Vishinsky Says Moscow Will Boycott Lie If Term Extended

Fails To Keep Issue In Council

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Soviet Union will refuse to deal with Trygve Lie if the Norwegian's term as U. N. secretary-general is extended, Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today.

Vishinsky denounced Lie as a "two-faced" follower of American policies. He announced the Soviet Union's stand at a news conference called in a last-minute effort to keep the United Nations Assembly from extending Lie's term three years. But the Assembly, meeting tomorrow, is expected to approve a 14-nation proposal to extend the term.

The Soviet Foreign Minister called his news conference shortly after his country failed to keep the Lie issue in the Security Council, where Russia earlier used the veto in an effort to block Lie's re-election. The council voted 7-1 against the Russian move to keep the issue out of the Assembly.

Won't "Recognize" Lie

Vishinsky told reporters:

"The U.S.S.R. delegation declares, and I will do so tomorrow (before the Assembly) that if Trygve Lie is imposed as secretary-general for any new term of office, the Soviet government will not regard him and deal with him as secretary-general of the United Nations organization."

Answering a question as to how the Russians would deal with Lie in the event he is continued in office, Vishinsky said:

"We shall not recognize him nor shall we have any truck with him."

He made it clear his declaration applied only to Lie and did not extend down into the lower ranks of the U. N. secretariat.

Soviet Peace-Proposals Rejected

While Vishinsky was holding his news conference, the 60-nation Political Committee of the General Assembly beat down his proposals for a five-power pact and a one-third cut in the armed forces of the five great powers—United States, Britain, France, China and the Soviet Union. The decision was taken on a series on one-sided votes, usually with five Soviet bloc nations alone voting for them. The Russian proposal to brand the nation first using the atomic bomb as a war criminal, based partly on the Communist-inspired Stockholm appeal, was defeated 38-5 with 18 abstaining. The committee still has to act on a counter proposal by seven countries which calls aggressive war the gravest crime against humanity.

Traffic Fatalities Rise; Booming Car Production Blamed

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (AP)—Booming automobile production was given as one of the reasons for an 11 per cent increase in traffic deaths in the first nine months of this year.

"The present traffic safety defense line in this country cannot cope with the production line," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

The council estimated that there are 45,000,000 vehicles in operation throughout the nation.

The nine-month traffic death toll of 24,580 is 11 per cent above that for the similar period of last year, the council said.

German Question Apparently Holds Up Defense Plan

Pact Committee Will Resume Talks Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—The Atlantic pact defense committee, apparently still unable to agree on the German rearmament question involved in setting up a Western European defense force, recessed tonight until tomorrow morning.

The group issued no communique. A Defense Department spokesman said that the meeting would resume at 9:30 a. m. EST, tomorrow.

The defense chiefs had hoped to finish by tonight the drafting of a plan for creating a combined force in Europe. However, much of the first session on Saturday and again today seemed to have been snagged by the disagreement over how to provide for German participation.

Ohio Trip Moved Back

The foreign defense ministers and chief of the staff had planned to go to the air force technical research center at Wright-Patterson Air Force base, Ohio, tomorrow. However, this trip was set back until Friday.

It was explained this postponement of the trip until Friday did not necessarily mean the session here was expected to last until Thursday night.

The itinerary arranged for the visiting military leaders also includes visits to the Army Proving Ground at Aberdeen, Md., on Wednesday and to the Naval Proving Ground at Dahlgren, Va., on Thursday. It was indicated those two trips might be made as scheduled, with the Ohio visit on Friday.

"Progress" Reported

Earlier a delegate to the momentous military conference said that "solid progress" was being made toward setting up a common defense organization for Western Europe.

But beyond that remark by British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell there was little immediate indication whether disagreements over the German rearmament question had been eased.

Esther Williams Gives Birth To Son

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 30 (AP)—Esther Williams didn't expect her baby until December but today she hurried to a hospital and 31 minutes later a son was born.

He is the second for the swimming star and her husband, Radio Announcer Ben Gage, and weighed 5 pounds 6 ounces. Dr. William C. Bradbury said mother and child are doing well.

Invaded Tibet Appeals To India

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tibet appealed today to India for diplomatic help as Chinese Communist invading troops were reported within 200 miles of Lhasa, capital of the isolated Himalayan mountain country.

The appeal was sent through India's representative in Lhasa. An Indian government spokesman said Tibet had asked specifically for the "continuance of the good offices which India has made available in the past."

He denied reports that the appeal included a request for military aid or for putting the Chinese invasion before the United Nations.

The spokesman said the Red invaders had pushed to within 200 miles of Lhasa and defending Tibetan troops had abandoned Lho Dzong (Lolungchung) on Oct. 22 and Shoshado on Oct. 27, falling back to Pemba Go.

India already has sent a note to the Peiping government expressing regret and surprise at the Communist order to invade Tibet but no answer has been received.

Six Reported Killed In Dredge Explosion

FRIARS POINT, Miss., Oct. 30 (AP)—Unconfirmed reports said six men were killed when a dredge exploded during a refueling operation near here tonight.

The explosion sent a big fuel barge drifting downstream afire, Memphis district engineers said, dragging the tug "Skipper" behind it. The towboat Sam Houston was dispatched to warn all shipping coming upstream in the area.

14-By-30-Foot Chicken Coop Is Home To Family Of Eight

GOSHEN, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—One family of eight is living in a rickety 14-by-30-foot chicken coop.

Another family, with five small children, is living in an unheated tent.

These were worrisome aspects of the Orange county housing situation reported today by County Welfare Commissioner Jerome Simon.

What makes the situation worse, he said, is that cold weather is coming on. That makes it bad, even for the ousted chickens, he said.

The fathers in both the tent and coop-housed families have fairly good jobs, he said, but don't make enough to pay the going rents in this suburban county of increasing population.

Simon said he had been trying for a week to find homes for the parents and six children now living in the chicken coop near the village of Salisbury Mills.

They rented the place from a farmer who permitted them to move his chickens outside during the warm months. The father works as a mechanic. The children are from one to 12 years old.

Campaign Costs Of Major Parties Exceed Million

Demos Have Balance Of $237,272 On Hand

[By The Associated Press]

With the election drive in the home stretch and the voting just a week away on Nov. 7, Democrats and Republicans each reported yesterday that their campaign costs have pushed past the million dollar mark.

For the final days of the drive centering on control of Congress, the Democrats said they had a balance of $237,272 on hand.

The Republicans didn't say anything specifically about current state of their finances. But, they reported they had spent through the middle of last week more than $1,089,000 this year. That figure represented about $71,000 more than they took in.

Both Parties Optimistic

National Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., said the Democrats had spent $1,705,368 the first nine months of the year. He also reported the balance in the bank. Another Democratic committee official disclosed the party spent $848,245 from Sept. 1 to Oct. 27 as the election campaign roared toward a climax.

Boyle's figures were made public at a news conference. The Republican financial statistics, representing the National Committee and the Senate and House Campaign Committees, were filed with the clerk of the House as required by law. The Democrats are expected to make a formal breakdown report later this week.

Both Boyle and GOP National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson came up with renewed statements of optimism about the prospects of their respective parties for gaining control of Congress.

Demos "Running Scared"

Boyle told reporters he has received reports indicating a Democratic sweep all over the country. But, he added, "We are still running scared." He predicted that if a record-breaking, 40,000,000 or more persons vote, the Democrats will pick up strength in the Senate and House.

Gabrielson said in a Portsmouth, N. H., prepared address that he has found an "increasing groundswell of Republicanism" and added:

"I am confident that the people are going to vote for Republican freedom as against Democrat socialism."

Undignified Position For British Top Brass

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell, Undersecretary of State James Webb and a covey of British top brass had to sit down and drop four feet today to get out of a stuck elevator.

Coming down from the 13th floor of the National Press Building, where Shinwell addressed a luncheon of the National Press Club, the elevator loaded with distinguished guests stopped about four feet from the ground floor and wouldn't budge.

The door was opened with an emergency switch. Radford Mobley, president, and William Hillman, the Press Club hosts, dropped to the seat of their pants and pushed themselves out.

Webb was next. Then, amid some bantering about the efficiency of American "lifts," the British visitors followed suit, one by one.

"Fed-Up" Motorist "Dunks" Car, Pays $45 To Get It Back

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 30 (AP)—A disgusted motorist who pushed his jalopy into the Delaware river to get rid of it today paid $45 to get it back.

Frank De Marco, 22, Trenton, also received a lecture from Magistrate Albert Cooper, Jr., on his attempt to dispose of the 19-year-old automobile.

A passerby heard the car go overboard and notified police. Thinking the vehicle occupied they called an emergency squad of firemen and salvage workers who finally located the car and dragged it from the river bottom.

Magistrate Cooper set aside disorderly conduct charges filed against De Marco after he paid a $45 bill for the lifting operation.

Syrian Leader Is Assassinated

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gen. Sami Hennawi, leader of one of Syria's several short-lived military coups, was assassinated today as he boarded a streetcar in the center of Beirut.

The former commander in chief of Syria's army, who sent his predecessor before a firing squad when he seized control of the government last year, had survived several previous attacks on his life.

(The British-controlled Arab news agency in Cairo said the assassin, a Syrian, has been arrested by Lebanon police. It quoted him as saying he slew the General to avenge the death of a relative, Syria's Prime Minister Mohsen Barazi, who died with President Husni Zayim before a firing squad after the Hennawi-led coup in Syria. The arrested man was identified as Mohammed Ibn Amed Barazi, 24. He was said to have traveled from his home in Hamma, Syria, to waylay his victim.)

Frank Gannett Says He Will Not Vote For Dewey

Hits "Methods Used To Get Nomination"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Publisher Frank E. Gannett, once a confidant of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, broke publicly with him today and declared he would not vote for his re-election.

The rift between the Governor and prominent Republican publisher was aired in a statement in which Gannett said he objected to "methods used to get the (gubernatorial) nomination."

At the same time Gannett explained he will not vote Democratic. He denied a report that he would order his papers to support Rep. Walter A. Lynch, Democratic candidate for governor.

"Everyone is entitled to his own opinion," was Dewey's comment. "It's a free country."

When a newsman in New York City asked him about the effect on his reelection chances of Gannett's stand, Dewey refused to comment further.

In a statement addressed to the editor of his own paper, the Rochester Times-Union, the publisher said:

"I personally will vote the Republican ticket except that I cannot conscientiously vote for the Republican candidate for governor because of methods used to get the nomination.

"I have supported Mr. Dewey many times, but I have concluded that for the good of the Republican Party, he should retire or be retired."

First public parting of the ways was apparent in 1948 when Gannett contributed $3,000 to the Wisconsin campaign fund of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Dewey and MacArthur were being pushed for the Republican presidential nomination. Dewey eventually won a second consecutive nomination.

Gannett, who himself once had hopes of winning the GOP gubernatorial and presidential nominations, this year backed Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley for governor until Hanley withdrew in September.

Mahoney Seen Getting Post As Lane Quits As Democrat Committeeman

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gov. Lane today suddenly resigned as Democratic national committeeman for Maryland.

There was immediate speculation that the post would go to George P. Mahoney, defeated by Lane in a bitter primary struggle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in September.

The reports that Mahoney will get the job were strengthened when the Baltimore contractor, himself, told 600 women at a party harmony rally here a few hours after the Lane announcement that "instead of going back to the cows and chickens, Mahoney is going with Gov. Lane to see that beyond a doubt he will be our next governor."

And Gov. Lane responded:

"If I have anything to do with it, George, you're not going to be left to monkey with those cows and chickens."

Mahoney has a large farm in Baltimore county. He and Lane engaged in one of the hardest fought Democratic primaries in Maryland history. Lane won renomination on the basis of convention unit votes, although Mahoney had about 17,000 more popular votes than Lane.

Mahoney's speech today was his first specific endorsement of the man who defeated him.

The Governor gave no reason for his action, which was announced by his release of a telegram he sent to William M. Boyle, national chairman of the committee, in Washington.

The move was characterized in some party quarters as another phase of the Governor's attempt to knit the various factions back together after the sharp divisions brought about by the primary.

The Governor's resignation as national committeeman left some doubt as to how a successor can be named. State committeemen usually are elected at the national conventions by the delegates from each state.

The job is expected to fall to the Democratic State Central Committee and it was indicated a meeting of that body may be called in a few days.

Puerto Rican Revolt Curbed After 23 Slain

Anti-U. S. Rebels Clash With Police

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 30 (AP)—Anti-United States nationalist rebels plunged Puerto Rico today into the worst uprising in the island's history. Police put the death toll at 23.

The rebels fired on the Governor's palace in an apparent attempt to slay Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. Violence and arson exploded in another nine towns. A battle appeared shaping up in one town which was still in nationalist hands late tonight.

Munoz told the nation in a broadcast that the uprising was a "conspiracy against democracy helped by the Communists." He assured Puerto Ricans that the situation was well in hand but asked the people to be on the alert against new violence.

Jayuya Worst Spot

The worst immediate trouble spot was Jayuya, a small town of about 1,500 in central Puerto Rico. It is located in a valley surrounded by the island's highest mountains. There the nationalists burned down a police station and killed all six policemen stationed there.

Police from neighboring towns were unable to get into Jayuya. A national guard tank force was on its way there from nearby Arecibo. The armored outfit was expected to reach Jayuya tomorrow morning. It has orders from Munoz to regain control of the town.

The nationalists are an extremist minority who demand complete independence of Puerto Rico from the United States. Munoz said they do not have more than 400 members all over the island.

Leader's Home Surrounded

Their leader is Pedro Albizu Campos. Police have surrounded his house in San Juan and his arrest is expected. Shots have been exchanged with nationalists inside. Police have not tried to smash their way into the home. The authorities are determined to avoid all violence possible.

The police reports said the dead included 13 policemen, nine nationalist rebels and one fireman.

Munoz appealed to Puerto Ricans to "remain serene, since there is no danger that your democratic liberty will be harmed by these fanatics." He said the attempt by gunmen to shoot their way into his palace was in accord with "Communist and Fascist" practices.

Puerto Ricans said this was the worst day of terror in their history, comparable only to an uprising at Lares in 1868 when 11 persons were killed in an insurrection against Spanish rule.

Ore. Flood Death Toll Reaches 4

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 30 (AP)—The Oregon flood death toll rose to four tonight as swollen rivers swirling over the scores of highways and farms began receding.

A farmer and his son drowned in the Coquille river as they attempted to reach safety in a rowboat. They were identified as Leo A. Landive, 35, and his son Dan Fred Landive, 9.

The rowboat was swamped as they tried to reach the town of Coquille on the Southern Oregon coast. Three others in the boat splashed their way to safety.

They were the latest victims of flash floods that left uncounted property damage and several hundred persons temporarily homeless.

This one, however, did not appear to be violent like its predecessors, and forecasters had hopes the area —hit by successive storms for five days—would escape further damage.

Heat Records Broken Over Much Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

Sunshine blended with balmy southern breezes Monday and spread delightful record-breaking high temperatures over much of the nation.

Temperatures in the 70s and 80s—and even in the 90s — shattered previous highs for Oct. 30 in cities from Nebraska to the East Coast.

Forecaster W. H. Percy of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said warm southerly winds, probably from the Gulf of Mexico, and generally cloudless skies were responsible for the unseasonably warm day.

Probers Learn Copper Shuttled To China's Reds

Hauled Around World From Japan Via N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Senators heard today how more than 3,500,000 pounds of war-useful copper was shuttled around the world from Japan to New York to Communist China before the trade was choked off last July.

Another deal sent more than 12,000 steel boiler tubes to China from the British occupied zone of Germany. All the transactions were handled by American export firms.

Sen. O'Conor (D-Md), chairman of a Senate Commerce subcommittee which took the testimony, declared that the Chinese Communists had "outsmarted and outmaneuvered" American officials in procuring the copper.

Exporters Testify

The two U. S. exporters who handled the shipments testified, however, that the copper was purchased and transshipped legally. Although the export of U. S.-produced copper to Communist - controlled areas has been banned since July, 1949, controls tightening up in sale of the Japanese copper were not instituted until July of this year.

O'Conor's subcommittee is investigating shipments of oil, metals and other strategic materials to the Chinese Communists.

Before the committee today were Walter Spitzer, import manager of the Kane Import Co., and Thomas A. Lynch, manager of the American Industrial Products Co., both of New York City.

Four Lots Bought Aboard Ship

Spitzer testified that his firm, on five separate occasions, bought Japanese copper from other firms and shipped it from New York to China on ships of the Isbrandtsen Line. Four of the five lots of 99.9 per cent pure copper already were aboard Isbrandtsen ships at the time of the purchase. The shipments, totalling 3,551,051 pounds, all went to the North China Import Corp. O'Conor said that corporation was Communist-controlled.

Spitzer's company also handled the deal which sent the boiler tubes from Germany to Communist China.

Lynch testified that he sold a total of 356,000 pounds of copper to two Chinese firms—the China Material Corp. of Tientsin last March, and the North China Import Corp. last April.

Reds Threaten North Korean Industrial City

Chinese Aiding In Counteroffensive

SEOUL, Tuesday, Oct. 31 (AP)—Resurgent Reds, reported unofficially to be bolstered by two Chinese Communist divisions, were on a counter-offensive today in Northeast Korea and fought savage defensive battles in the northwest.

A U. S. spokesman acknowledged that at least one Communist regiment was in action in Northeast Korea. There Reds stabbed within 25 miles of the industrial center of Hamhung and virtually cut off a South Korean regiment.

A field dispatch said the regiment was holding firm while a relief column hurried up from Hamhung and low-flying U. S. Marine Corsairs attacked the Reds.

AP Correspondent Bem Price quoted a captured North Korean officer as saying that two Chinese Communist divisions were in the encircling drive towards Hamhung. American advisers made no such identification of the two divisions, however, and an American intelligence officer said he was skeptical.

British Capture Chongju

In the northwest the British Commonwealth Brigade had to fight street by street to capture the highway hub of Chongju on the main road to the northwest border city of Sinuiju. Then Americans swept through, ready to drive up that road.

Other American forces are dug in near Kusong, 26 miles north of Chongju and 34 miles from the Manchurian border.

The South Korean Second Army Corps, operating on the right flank of Americans, attributed reverses of the past three days to the weight of fresh enemy troops. Second Corps officers insisted many of those troops were Chinese.

"While the U. S. Eighth Army so far has declined to give official recognition to their claims, Second Corps staff officers insist it is no token Chinese Red force which already has chewed up one of their divisions," said AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth.

He quoted an American military advisor as saying there was not much left of the South Korean Sixth Division after a three-day battle near Onjong, 35 miles northeast of Kusong.

Reinforcements On Way

The Sixth's officers said a force of more than 10,000, most of them Chinese, cut up the South Koreans.

While the immediate situation appeared serious for the South Korean Republican Third Division, strong American reinforcements were within 50 miles of Hamhung on the south and 75 miles on the north.

Elsewhere along a 250-mile arc, United Nations forces edging toward the snowy fringes of the Manchurian border found their advance stalled by bitter Communist resistance.

Even the U. S. Fifth Regimental Combat Team, part of the U. S. 24th Division, was forced to dig in 34 miles southeast of Manchuria's Yalu river border after meeting determined Communist resistance.

Associated Press Correspondent William Jorden reported Red mortar and small-arms fire inflicted "heavy casualties" on the Americans.

Steel Talks Drone On

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30 (AP)—Wage negotiations between the CIO United Steelworkers and the nation's biggest producer droned on today without reported progress—or difficulties.

Negotiators for the mammoth United States Steel Corporation were closeted with leaders of the USW for three hours in a hotel conference room. They ended this session without making any comment.

Police Seek West Virginia Teacher In Girl's Kidnaping

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 30 (AP) — A 35-year-old high school teacher was charged in a warrant today with kidnapping a 17-year-old girl, a former student in his classes.

Police said they had no trace of Lewis G. Daniel, a social studies teacher and former coach at Marsh Fork high school at Montcoal, Raleigh county, or of the girl, Ann Tabor, of Naoma.

Daniel was named in a warrant issued by Magistrate Forest Sevy on complaint of the girl's aunt. Daniel, a one-time Marshall college athlete, is divorced and the father of two children.

Miss Tabor, a student nurse at McMillan hospital at Charleston, is the daughter of Garrett Tabor, proprietor of the Tabor Lumber Company at Naoma.

Her companions, Student Nurses Ruth Bulmer, 18, and Patsy Webb, 17, told this story:

The three girls were in a restaurant at Charleston's bus terminal when Daniel approached. He had taught all three of the girls in high school.

Daniel offered to take them back to the nurses' home. Reaching the home, Miss Bulmer and Miss Webb got out, but Daniel held Miss Tabor's arm, saying he wanted to talk with her.

"We walked on toward the house and were on the steps when we heard Ann scream for help," Miss Webb related. "We turned around and started back toward the car when the driver pulled away from the curb at high speed."

The Republican financial statistics, representing the National Committee and the Senate and House Campaign Committees, were filed with the clerk of the House as required by law. The Democrats are expected to make a formal breakdown report later this week.

Both Boyle and GOP National Chairman Guy George Gabrielson came up with renewed statements of optimism about the prospects of their respective parties for gaining control of Congress.

Demos "Running Scared"

Boyle told reporters he has received reports indicating a Democratic sweep all over the country. But, he added, "We are still running scared." He predicted that if a record-breaking, 40,000,000 or more persons vote, the Democrats will pick up strength in the Senate and House.

Gabrielson said in a Portsmouth, N. H., prepared address that he has found an "increasing groundswell of Republicanism" and added:

"I am confident that the people are going to vote for Republican freedom as against Democrat socialism."

Undignified Position For British Top Brass

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell, Undersecretary of State James Webb and a covey of British top brass had to sit down and drop four feet today to get out of a stuck elevator.

Coming down from the 13th floor of the National Press Building, where Shinwell addressed a luncheon of the National Press Club, the elevator loaded with distinguished guests stopped about four feet from the ground floor and wouldn't budge.

The door was opened with an emergency switch. Radford Mobley, president, and William Hillman, the Press Club hosts, dropped to the seat of their pants and pushed themselves out.

Webb was next. Then, amid some bantering about the efficiency of American "lifts," the British visitors followed suit, one by one.

"Fed-Up" Motorist "Dunks" Car, Pays $45 To Get It Back

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 30 (AP)—A disgusted motorist who pushed his jalopy into the Delaware river to get rid of it today paid $45 to get it back.

Frank De Marco, 22, Trenton, also received a lecture from Magistrate Albert Cooper, Jr., on his attempt to dispose of the 19-year-old automobile.

A passerby heard the car go overboard and notified police. Thinking the vehicle occupied they called an emergency squad of firemen and salvage workers who finally located the car and dragged it from the river bottom.

Magistrate Cooper set aside disorderly conduct charges filed against De Marco after he paid a $45 bill for the lifting operation.

Syrian Leader Is Assassinated

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gen. Sami Hennawi, leader of one of Syria's several short-lived military coups, was assassinated today as he boarded a streetcar in the center of Beirut.

The former commander in chief of Syria's army, who sent his predecessor before a firing squad when he seized control of the government last year, had survived several previous attacks on his life.

(The British-controlled Arab news agency in Cairo said the assassin, a Syrian, has been arrested by Lebanon police. It quoted him as saying he slew the General to avenge the death of a relative, Syria's Prime Minister Mohsen Barazi, who died with President Husni Zayim before a firing squad after the Hennawi-led coup in Syria. The arrested man was identified as Mohammed Ibn Amed Barazi, 24. He was said to have traveled from his home in Hamma, Syria, to waylay his victim.)

Frank Gannett Says He Will Not Vote For Dewey

Hits "Methods Used To Get Nomination"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Publisher Frank E. Gannett, once a confidant of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, broke publicly with him today and declared he would not vote for his re-election.

The rift between the Governor and prominent Republican publisher was aired in a statement in which Gannett said he objected to "methods used to get the (gubernatorial) nomination."

At the same time Gannett explained he will not vote Democratic. He denied a report that he would order his papers to support Rep. Walter A. Lynch, Democratic candidate for governor.

"Everyone is entitled to his own opinion," was Dewey's comment. "It's a free country."

When a newsman in New York City asked him about the effect on his reelection chances of Gannett's stand, Dewey refused to comment further.

In a statement addressed to the editor of his own paper, the Rochester Times-Union, the publisher said:

"I personally will vote the Republican ticket except that I cannot conscientiously vote for the Republican candidate for governor because of methods used to get the nomination.

"I have supported Mr. Dewey many times, but I have concluded that for the good of the Republican Party, he should retire or be retired."

First public parting of the ways was apparent in 1948 when Gannett contributed $3,000 to the Wisconsin campaign fund of Gen Douglas MacArthur. Dewey and MacArthur were being pushed for the Republican presidential nomination. Dewey eventually won a second consecutive nomination.

Gannett, who himself once had hopes of winning the GOP gubernatorial and presidential nominations, this year backed Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley for governor until Hanley withdrew in September.

Mahoney Seen Getting Post As Lane Quits As Democrat Committeeman

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Gov. Lane today suddenly resigned as Democratic national committeeman for Maryland.

There was immediate speculation that the post would go to George P. Mahoney, defeated by Lane in a bitter primary struggle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in September.

The reports that Mahoney will get the job were strengthened when the Baltimore contractor, himself, told 600 women at a party harmony rally here a few hours after the Lane announcement that "instead of going back to the cows and chickens, Mahoney is going with Gov. Lane to see that beyond a doubt he will be our next governor."

And Gov. Lane responded:

"If I have anything to do with it, George, you're not going to be left to monkey with those cows and chickens."

Mahoney has a large farm in Baltimore county. He and Lane engaged in one of the hardest fought Democratic primaries in Maryland history. Lane won renomination on the basis of convention unit votes, although Mahoney had about 17,000 more popular votes than Lane.

Mahoney's speech today was his first specific endorsement of the man who defeated him.

The Governor gave no reason for his action, which was announced by his release of a telegram he sent to William M. Boyle, national chairman of the committee, in Washington.

The move was characterized in some party quarters as another phase of the Governor's attempt to knit the various factions back together after the sharp divisions brought about by the primary.

The Governor's resignation as national committeeman left some doubt as to how a successor can be named. State committeemen usually are elected at the national conventions by the delegates from each state.

The job is expected to fall to the Democratic State Central Committee and it was indicated a meeting of that body may be called in a few days.

14-By-30-Foot Chicken Coop Is Home To Family Of Eight

GOSHEN, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—One family of eight is living in a rickety 14-by-30-foot chicken coop.

Another family, with five small children, is living in an unheated tent.

These were worrisome aspects of the Orange county housing situation reported today by County Welfare Commissioner Jerome Simon.

What makes the situation worse, he said, is that cold weather is coming on. That makes it bad, even for the ousted chickens, he said.

The fathers in both the tent and coop-housed families have fairly good jobs, he said, but don't make enough to pay the going rents in this suburban county of increasing population.

Simon said he had been trying for a week to find homes for the parents and six children now living in the chicken coop near the village of Salisbury Mills.

They rented the place from a farmer who permitted them to move his chickens outside during the warm months. The father works as a mechanic. The children are from one to 12 years old.

Puerto Rican Revolt Curbed After 23 Slain

Anti-U. S. Rebels Clash With Police

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 30 (AP)—Anti-United States nationalist rebels plunged Puerto Rico today into the worst uprising in the island's history. Police put the death toll at 23.

The rebels fired on the Governor's palace in an apparent attempt to slay Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. Violence and arson exploded in another nine towns. A battle appeared shaping up in one town which was still in nationalist hands late tonight.

Munoz told the nation in a broadcast that the uprising was a "conspiracy against democracy helped by the Communists." He assured Puerto Ricans that the situation was well in hand but asked the people to be on the alert against new violence.

Jayuya Worst Spot

The worst immediate trouble spot was Jayuya, a small town of about 1,500 in central Puerto Rico. It is located in a valley surrounded by the island's highest mountains. There the nationalists burned down a police station and killed all six policemen stationed there.

Police from neighboring towns were unable to get into Jayuya. A national guard tank force was on its way there from nearby Arecibo. The armored outfit was expected to reach Jayuya tomorrow morning. It has orders from Munoz to regain control of the town.

The nationalists are an extremist minority who demand complete independence of Puerto Rico from the United States. Munoz said they do not have more than 400 members all over the island.

Leader's Home Surrounded

Their leader is Pedro Albizu Campos. Police have surrounded his house in San Juan and his arrest is expected. Shots have been exchanged with nationalists inside. Police have not tried to smash their way into the home. The authorities are determined to avoid all violence possible.

The police reports said the dead included 13 policemen, nine nationalist rebels and one fireman.

Munoz appealed to Puerto Ricans to "remain serene, since there is no danger that your democratic liberty will be harmed by these fanatics." He said the attempt by gunmen to shoot their way into his palace was in accord with "Communist and Fascist" practices.

Puerto Ricans said this was the worst day of terror in their history, comparable only to an uprising at Lares in 1868 when 11 persons were killed in an insurrection against Spanish rule.

Ore. Flood Death Toll Reaches 4

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 30 (AP)—The Oregon flood death toll rose to four tonight as swollen rivers swirling over the scores of highways and farms began receding.

A farmer and his son drowned in the Coquille river as they attempted to reach safety in a rowboat. They were identified as Leo A. Landive, 35, and his son Dan Fred Landive, 9.

The rowboat was swamped as they tried to reach the town of Coquille on the Southern Oregon coast. Three others in the boat splashed their way to safety.

They were the latest victims of flash floods that left uncounted property damage and several hundred persons temporarily homeless.

This one, however, did not appear to be violent like its predecessors, and forecasters had hopes the area—hit by successive storms for five days—would escape further damage.

Heat Records Broken Over Much Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

Sunshine blended with balmy southern breezes Monday and spread delightful record-breaking high temperatures over much of the nation.

Temperatures in the 70s and 80s—and even in the 90s — shattered previous highs for Oct. 30 in cities from Nebraska to the East Coast.

Forecaster W. H. Percy of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said warm southerly winds, probably from the Gulf of Mexico, and generally cloudless skies were responsible for the unseasonably warm day.

Folsom Sues "Digest"

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (INS)—Alabama Gov. James E. Folsom sued the "Readers' Digest" for one million dollars today, charging that the magazine "wantonly, wickedly, and maliciously" libeled him in an article Alabama prison conditions.

Probers Learn Copper Shuttled To China's Reds

Hauled Around World From Japan Via N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Senators heard today how more than 3,500,000 pounds of war-useful copper was shuttled around the world from Japan to New York to Communist China before the trade was choked off last July.

Another deal sent more than 12,000 steel boiler tubes to China from the British occupied zone of Germany. All the transactions were handled by American export firms.

Sen. O'Conor (D-Md), chairman of a Senate Commerce subcommittee which took the testimony, declared that the Chinese Communists had "outsmarted and outmaneuvered" American officials in procuring the copper.

Exporters Testify

The two U. S. exporters who handled the shipments testified, however, that the copper was purchased and transshipped legally. Although the export of U. S.-produced copper to Communist - controlled areas has been banned since July, 1949, controls tightening up in sale of the Japanese copper were not instituted until July of this year.

O'Conor's subcommittee is investigating shipments of oil, metals and other strategic materials to the Chinese Communists.

Before the committee today were Walter Spitzer, import manager of the Kane Import Co., and Thomas A. Lynch, manager of the American Industrial Products Co., both of New York City.

Four Lots Bought Aboard Ship

Spitzer testified that his firm, on five separate occasions, bought Japanese copper from other firms and shipped it from New York to China on ships of the Isbrandtsen Line. Four of the five lots of 99.9 per cent pure copper already were aboard Isbrandtsen ships at the time of the purchase. The shipments, totalling 3,551,051 pounds, all went to the North China Import Corp. O'Conor said that corporation was Communist-controlled.

Spitzer's company also handled the deal which sent the boiler tubes from Germany to Communist China.

Lynch testified that he sold a total of 356,000 pounds of copper to two Chinese firms—the China Material Corp. of Tientsin last March, and the North China Import Corp. last April.

Reds Threaten North Korean Industrial City

Chinese Aiding In Counteroffensive

SEOUL, Tuesday, Oct. 31 (AP)—Resurgent Reds, reported unofficially to be bolstered by two Chinese Communist divisions, were on a counter-offensive today in Northeast Korea and fought savage defensive battles in the northwest.

A U. S. spokesman acknowledged that at least one Communist regiment was in action in Northeast Korea. There Reds stabbed within 25 miles of the industrial center of Hamhung and virtually cut off a South Korean regiment.

A field dispatch said the regiment was holding firm while a relief column hurried up from Hamhung and low-flying U. S. Marine Corsairs attacked the Reds.

AP Correspondent Bem Price quoted a captured North Korean officer as saying that two Chinese Communist divisions were in the encircling drive towards Hamhung. American advisers made no such identification of the two divisions, however, and an American intelligence officer said he was skeptical.

British Capture Chongju

In the northwest the British Commonwealth Brigade had to fight street by street to capture the highway hub of Chongju on the main road to the northwest border city of Sinuiju. Then Americans swept through, ready to drive up that road.

Other American forces are dug in near Kusong, 26 miles north of Chongju and 34 miles from the Manchurian border.

The South Korean Second Army Corps, operating on the right flank of Americans, attributed reverses of the past three days to the weight of fresh enemy troops. Second Corps officers insisted many of those troops were Chinese.

"While the U. S. Eighth Army so far has declined to give official recognition to their claims, Second Corps staff officers insist it is no token Chinese Red force which already has chewed up one of their divisions," said AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth.

He quoted an American military advisor as saying there was not much left of the South Korean Sixth Division after a three-day battle near Onjong, 35 miles northeast of Kusong.

Reinforcements On Way

The Sixth's officers said a force of more than 10,000, most of them Chinese, cut up the South Koreans.

While the immediate situation appeared serious for the South Korean Republican Third Division, strong American reinforcements were within 50 miles of Hamhung on the south and 75 miles on the north.

Elsewhere along a 250-mile arc, United Nations forces edging toward the snowy fringes of the Manchurian border found their advance stalled by bitter Communist resistance.

Even the U. S. Fifth Regimental Combat Team, part of the U. S. 24th Division, was forced to dig in 34 miles southeast of Manchuria's Yalu river border after meeting determined Communist resistance.

Associated Press Correspondent William Jorden reported Red mortar and small-arms fire inflicted "heavy casualties" on the Americans.

Steel Talks Drone On

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30 (AP)—Wage negotiations between the CIO United Steelworkers and the nation's biggest producer droned on today without reported progress—or difficulties.

Negotiators for the mammoth United States Steel Corporation were closeted with leaders of the USW for three hours in a hotel conference room. They ended this session without making any comment.

Police Seek West Virginia Teacher In Girl's Kidnaping

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 30 (AP) — A 35-year-old high school teacher was charged in a warrant today with kidnapping a 17-year-old girl, a former student in his classes.

Police said they had no trace of Lewis G. Daniel, a social studies teacher and former coach at Marsh Fork high school at Montcoal, Raleigh county, or of the girl, Ann Tabor, of Naoma.

Daniel was named in a warrant issued by Magistrate Forest Sevy on complaint of the girl's aunt. Daniel, a one-time Marshall college athlete, is divorced and the father of two children.

Miss Tabor, a student nurse at McMillan hospital at Charleston, is the daughter of Garrett Tabor, proprietor of the Tabor Lumber Company at Naoma.

Her companions, Student Nurses Ruth Bulmer, 18, and Patsy Webb, 17, told this story:

The three girls were in a restaurant at Charleston's bus terminal when Daniel approached. He had taught all three of the girls in high school.

Daniel offered to take them back to the nurses' home. Reaching the home, Miss Bulmer and Miss Webb got out, but Daniel held Miss Tabor's arm, saying he wanted to talk with her.

"We walked on toward the house and were on the steps when we heard Ann scream for help," Miss Webb related. "We turned around and started back toward the car when the driver pulled away from the curb at high speed."

Cardinals Back Dogma Decision

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 30 (AP)—The decision of Pope Pius XII to proclaim as Catholic dogma that the Virgin Mary was "assumed body and soul into the glory of heaven" received the approval today of 35 cardinals and more than 500 bishops from all parts of the world.

The proclamation will be issued by the Pontiff Wednesday in what will be the most spectacular and important ceremony of the 1950 Holy Year.

At a semi-private consistory, the Pope outlined the reasons for his decision to define the dogma, the first in nearly 100 years to be proclaimed by a pope.

His action, he told the assembly, had been preceded by much expert study. Then a circular letter was sent to all bishops of the church, asking their views.

"In a wonderful and unanimous chorus," the Pope said, "the voices of the pastors and of the faithful from every part of the world reached us professing the same faith and requesting the same thing as supremely desired by all. We judged then that there was no reason for further delay, and we decided to proceed to the definition of the dogma."

Trucker's Wife Sums Up Plight

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30 (AP)—"Our house payment's due Wednesday, we're flat broke, and Frank has quit his job."

That, briefly, is how Mrs. Frank DiDonatis today summed up the plight of the family of DiDonatis, the truck driver sentenced to serve 1,870 days in an Indiana jail in lieu of a $1,870 fine for driving an overloaded truck.

The 26-year-old truck driver came home yesterday from Elkhart, Ind., after spending eight days in Goshen jail in Elkhart county. Circuit Court Judge William E. Wider released the Philadelphian in his own recognizance pending his trial by jury.

And the first thing DiDonatis did when he got home was to tell the Aiello brothers trucking firm he was through:

"They didn't even send me a cigaret while I was in jail."

Negro's Word Taken, Freed Of Rape Charge

DUBLIN, Ga., Oct. 30 (AP)—An all-white jury took the word of a 79-year old negro over that of a white woman today and acquitted him of a charge that he tried to rape her.

The only trial witnesses were Charlie Williams and a 21-year-old white woman who accused him. After hearing them, the jurors took only 15-minutes to reach a verdict.

The woman said Williams accosted her on a road near his home. The aged man, lame and partly blind, denied the charge.

Tobacco Moocher Likes New 'Blend'

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 30 (AP)—What does it take to discourage a tobacco moocher? That's what an Army recruiting sergeant is asking after he prepared this mixture for the moocher:

A small quantity of tobacco, five rubber bands, eight match heads, two locks of finely clipped hair, a teaspoonful of lint, a dash of pencil sharpenings, and the contents of one shot-gun shell.

The moocher filled his pipe as usual, smoked merrily away—and returned two hours later for a refill.

Pre-Halloween Prank Backfires On Quartet

ATHENS, O., Oct. 30 (AP)—Four youths tried to upset an outhouse wired with dynamite caps in a pre-Halloween prank and were injured when one cap exploded early Sunday morning, Sheriff George Bateman reported.

He identified the four as Charles Kisor, Robert Keirns and Charles Leffler, all 18, and Joe Whaley, 17, all of nearby Millfield.

Kisor and Keirns were treated at Sheltering Arms hospital here. Attaches said Kisor may lose a finger. The others were less seriously hurt.

Bateman said Cary Matheny told him he wired the outhouse to spare it from Halloween pranksters. No charges were filed against Matheny but the sheriff said he is continuing his investigation.

Sweden's New King Sworn In

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 30 (AP)—King Gustaf VI ascended the ancient throne of Sweden today and proclaimed as his royal motto "duty above all." He pledged himself to adhere strictly to the constitution and to rule as a "righteous king and gracious father of the Swedish people by a legal, just and mild government."

The new king, 67, is the oldest ever to assume a European throne. His formal succession came this afternoon as he finished reading his royal oath in the cabinet council room of Stockholm palace.

Gustaf VI, looking pale and strained, hailed his father as the "peace king." Gustaf V, who died yesterday, had kept the country neutral during two world wars. His reign of nearly 43 years was the longest in Swedish history. At 92 he also was Europe's oldest reigning monarch.

The King's oath was read by Socialist Premier Tage Erlander, in the presence of his cabinet and Sweden's hereditary princes. The Premier formally offered his government's resignation and the King asked it to remain in office.

A 42,000,000 vote would be a record for a mid-term election. The previous highest was 37,304,380 in 1938. The last non-presidential election brought out only 35,874,568 in 1946.

The estimated registration of 69,954,478 is an all-time record.

Nurse Shortage Blamed On Lack Of Planning

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Dr. Edwin L. Crosby said today the nursing shortage still is one of the major problems of American hospitals, partly because there is a lack of national planning.

The Johns Hopkins hospital director spoke at the 10th annual convention of the Maryland-District of Columbia-Delaware Hospital Assocation.

Crosby said the shortage of nurses was made "worse by the Korean emergency" and "aggravated" by lack of planning on the national level.

Trucker's Wife Sums Up Plight

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30 (AP)—"Our house payment's due Wednesday, we're flat broke, and Frank has quit his job."

That, briefly, is how Mrs. Frank DiDonatis today summed up the plight of the family of DiDonatis, the truck driver sentenced to serve 1,870 days in an Indiana jail in lieu of a $1,870 fine for driving an overloaded truck.

The 26-year-old truck driver came home yesterday from Elkhart, Ind., after spending eight days in Goshen jail in Elkhart county. Circuit Court Judge William E. Wider released the Philadelphian in his own recognizance pending his trial by jury.

And the first thing DiDonatis did when he got home was to tell the Aiello brothers trucking firm he was through:

"They didn't even send me a cigaret while I was in jail."

Negro's Word Taken, Freed Of Rape Charge

DUBLIN, Ga., Oct. 30 (AP)—An all-white jury took the word of a 79-year old negro over that of a white woman today and acquitted him of a charge that he tried to rape her.

The only trial witnesses were Charlie Williams and a 21-year-old white woman who accused him. After hearing them, the jurors took only 15-minutes to reach a verdict.

The woman said Williams accosted her on a road near his home. The aged man, lame and partly blind, denied the charge.

Tobacco Moocher Likes New 'Blend'

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 30 (AP) — What does it take to discourage a tobacco moocher? That's what an Army recruiting sergeant is asking after he prepared this mixture for the moocher:

A small quantity of tobacco, five rubber bands, eight match heads, two locks of finely clipped hair, a teaspoonful of lint, a dash of pencil sharpenings, and the contents of one shot-gun shell.

The moocher filled his pipe as usual, smoked merrily away—and returned two hours later for a refill.

Pre-Halloween Prank Backfires On Quartet

ATHENS, O., Oct. 30 (AP)—Four youths tried to upset an outhouse wired with dynamite caps in a pre-Halloween prank and were injured when one cap exploded early Sunday morning, Sheriff George Bateman reported.

He identified the four as Charles Kisor, Robert Keirns and Charles Leffler, all 18, and Joe Whaley, 17, all of nearby Millfield.

Kisor and Keirns were treated at Sheltering Arms hospital here. Attaches said Kisor may lose a finger. The others were less seriously hurt.

Bateman said Cary Matheny told him he wired the outhouse to spare it from Halloween pranksters. No charges were filed against Matheny but the sheriff said he is continuing his investigation.

Sweden's New King Sworn In

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 30 (AP)—King Gustaf VI ascended the ancient throne of Sweden today and proclaimed as his royal motto "duty above all." He pledged himself to adhere strictly to the constitution and to rule as a "righteous king and gracious father of the Swedish people by a legal, just and mild government."

The new king, 67, is the oldest ever to assume a European throne. His formal succession came this afternoon as he finished reading his royal oath in the cabinet council room of Stockholm palace.

Gustaf VI, looking pale and strained, hailed his father as the "peace king." Gustaf V, who died yesterday, had kept the country neutral during two world wars. His reign of nearly 43 years was the longest in Swedish history. At 92 he also was Europe's oldest reigning monarch.

The King's oath was read by Socialist Premier Tage Erlander, in the presence of his cabinet and Sweden's hereditary princes. The Premier formally offered his government's resignation and the King asked it to remain in office.

BRUNSWICK, Md., Oct. 30 (AP)—High school pupils in this Frederick county stronghold of the Democratic Party went Republican today.

In an "election," students of the 10th, 11th and 12th grades cast 30 ballots for Republican Theodore R. McKeldin for governor to 51 for William Preston Lane, Jr., the incumbent Democrat.

And they voted 58-51 in favor of Republican John M. Butler over Sen. Tydings.

Bank Robbed Of $56,000

NEWTON, Mass., Oct. 30 (INS)—Two bandits wearing grotesque Halloween masks and possibly aided by a woman robbed the Newtonville branch of the Newton National Bank today of $56,000 in cash and checks.

The bandits escaped in a car driven by a person wearing a rubber false nose, whom police said may have been a woman.

60 Per Cent Vote Seen Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—State officials and party leaders look for a total vote Nov. 7 of more than 42,000,000, or a 60 per cent turnout among the estimated 70,000,000 men and women eligible to vote.

A 42,000,000 vote would be a record for a mid-term election. The previous highest was 37,304,380 in 1938. The last non-presidential election brought out only 35,874,568 in 1946.

The estimated registration of 69,954,478 is an all-time record.

Nurse Shortage Blamed On Lack Of Planning

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP)—Dr. Edwin L. Crosby said today the nursing shortage still is one of the major problems of American hospitals, partly because there is a lack of national planning.

The Johns Hopkins hospital director spoke at the 10th annual convention of the Maryland-District of Columbia-Delaware Hospital Association.

Crosby said the shortage of nurses was made "worse by the Korean emergency" and "aggravated" by lack of planning on the national level.

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking CAMELS
Yes, these were the findings of noted throat specialists after a total of 2,470 weekly examinations of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days.

Over 150 Septic Tanks Installed Here Recently

More than 150 septic tanks have been placed in use since the adoption of rules and regulations by the Allegany County Board of Health in regard to installation of sewage disposal systems for private homes and other establishments, according to J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian here.

Dowling said that all new construction permits are held up until the Health Department approves the sewage disposal system to be used for the building.

The Health Department and Allegany County Commissioners conferred last April and a set of rules for such installations were prepared.

The regulations provide that all home, apartments, boarding houses, schools, stores, and factories which are supplied with water under pressure, shall in the absence of a public sewage system, have an approved type of sewage disposal which shall consist of a septic tank, the effluent which shall be disposed of by underground means.

The discharge of any raw sewage into any stream or other body of water is strictly prohibited.

In the event any sewer from a house to a septic tank passes within 50 feet of any well or spring, it shall be constructed of cast-iron pipe with lead joints. Otherwise, it may be constructed of vitified clay (terra cotta) bell and spigot pipe with jute and cement-mortar joints.

A large number of new dwellings are being built in county areas and they must have an approved septic tank system for sewage disposal before a building permit is issued by the County Commissioners.

In cases where sewage is dumped into streams the Health Department makes an investigation and the property owner notified to correct the situation, Dowling said.

Voluntary compliance with the regulations is reported in many cases, Dowling said, with most property owners realizing the necessity for sanitary conditions.

Trio Paroled In Car Theft

James E. and John R. Parsons, both 18, twin brothers of 314 Washington Street, and Robert E. Breechbiel, 17, of 510 Beall Street, all pleaded guilty but drew suspended 60-day jail sentences and were paroled for two years yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The trio, authorities said, admitted stealing the 1946 sedan of Patrick Creegan, 521 Patterson Avenue, Friday night. They were arrested early Saturday by Detective Ernest M. Powell.

Brechbiel had been released into the custody of his parents but the Parsons brothers were held in jail pending trial yesterday morning before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti, who advised them to "behave yourselves generally."

Suspicion centered around the trio prior to their arrest, and police kept them under almost constant surveillance due to the number of vehicles reported stolen in the West Side area in the past few weks. In most of the theft cases, authorities established the fact that the youths had been seen near the machines.

Cars were stolen from the vicinity of Fayette Street, and Beall Streets, Rose Hill Avenue and Kelly Boulevard.

A temperature between 40 and 50 degrees F. is best for the temporary storage of most fruits and vegetables.

You're looking at the first 60 minutes of a miracle!

This is her first hour in Israel!

And in that hour, the sorrow and misery, the hunger and fear, of her long flight are momentarily forgotten . . . banished by the joy of the miracle that brought her here . . . a miracle that is really many miracles in one.

It's a miracle that Israel is reborn . . . a miracle that the Jews held off the Arabs . . . a miracle that 250,000 Jews were brought to Israel in 1949.

But these miracles didn't just happen! A world of suffering and toil, of blood and sweat went into their making.

And even then, no miracles could have been wrought if you hadn't worked valiantly and given generously!

Thousands . . . yes, tens of thousands of people still stand before the gates of Israel, pleading to be let in. For them, homes must be built. Clothes must be made . . . tools must be fashioned . . . crops must be planted. Factories must be built, and hospitals must be started.

And you . . . you who have helped to bring about so many miracles, must buckle down and help some more . . . and still more.

The work is started, and prospers mightily. The goal is actually in sight. But it cannot be attained . . . indeed, all that has gone before can come to naught . . . if we fail to do what is expected of us now.

So work for Israel. Give for Israel. For was it not written: "Thou shalt not harden thine heart, nor shut thine hand from thy poor brother, but thou shalt open thine hand wide unto him . . ."

Balance and Grace

Without perfect balance, you ca not stand, sit or walk with maxi mum grace. Furthermore, your pro file can never be your favorite sport can' be what you wish it to be.

The secret of perfect equilibriu lies in learning to adjust the masse of your body so that they coun terbalance in any position you ma take. These body masses — hea chest, arms, pelvic area and legs- are so heavy that when one of ther moves, the others must make com pensatory movements to keep it from being thrown off balance an toppling over.

You can learn to improve you balance generally. When you ca perform the following exercise wit ease, and it's a hard one, you wi be more gracefully poised in ever action you perform.

Stand with your arms outstretch ed to the sides at shoulder leve feet together. Slowly stretch you left leg back behind you as far a you can. Keep your weight bal anced on the ball of your right foo without wobbling. Hold for a coun of ten. Return the left leg to start ing position.

Beautiful to Behold

Then, slowly raise the leg back ward again as you incline your bod forward from your hips. Try t achieve a position in which you leg and body are in a straight lin and parallel to the floor. Hold fo a count of five. Repeat both part of the exercise with the right leg When you can do it on both leg ten times for a count of twenty each time, you've got balance!

Potomac Coach Lines To End Service Here

Notice has been given by the Potomac Coach Lines of its discontinuance of the Cumberland to Berkeley Springs, W. Va., route to be effective November 4, according to notices in the line's buses.

Whether service will be offered the area after that date rests with the Public Service Commission.

Metropolitan Trailways, operated by R. L. Emery, Jr., formerly head of the Defunct Emery's Motor Coach Lines, said he has applied to the PSC to take over the Potomac Coach Lines route.

Metropolitan Trailways is offering the same service as the old Emery line, all points between Cumberland and Leesburg, Va. The service now is inter-state, Emery said. The application pending would give the line permission to operate intra-state and offer relief to residents of the Oldtown section working at Celanese.

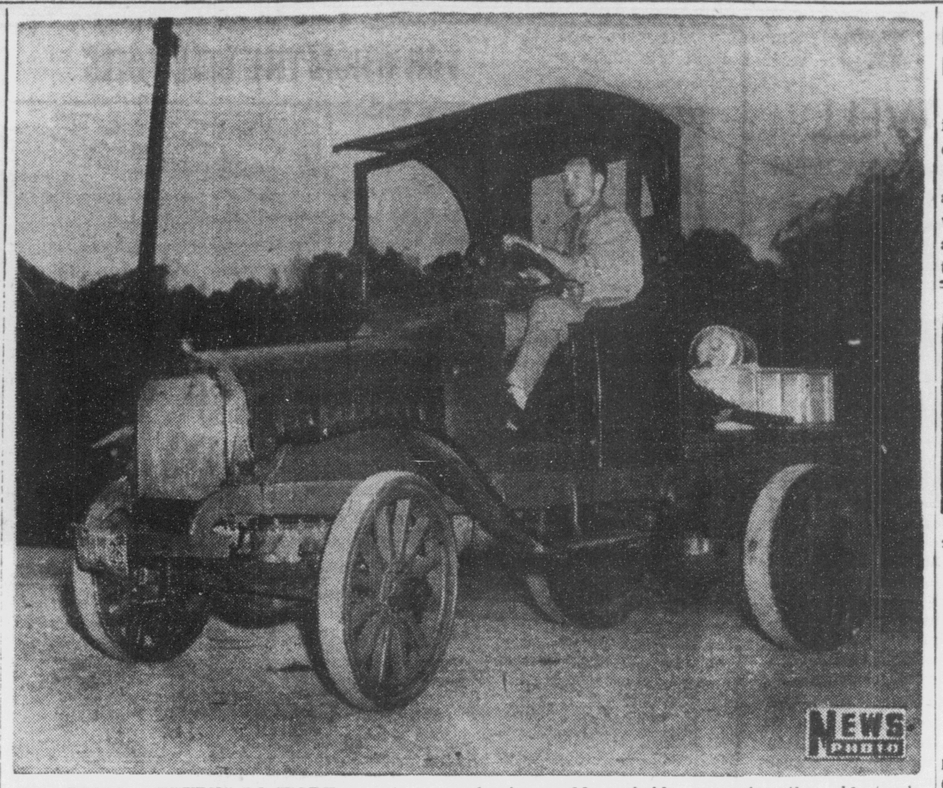
Francis P. Urner, Hagerstown, president of Potomac Coach Lines, said lack of volume and loss of revenue prompted the request to discontinue the run.

He also charged "Metropolitan Trailways operates illegally on that route", adding that the line lacks an inter-state license.

Legion Will Hold Dance Tonight

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will hold an "open house" and dance tonight following the Halloween parade being sponsored by Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight Society.

The music for dancing will be by the Starlighters. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.



OLD TRUCK RETURNS TO WORK—A veteran mechanic would probably recognize the old truck shown in the picture as a 1915 Mack one-ton vehicle. It was purchased several months ago by the Steinla Motor Company and went into service Friday when a delivery was made to the Celanese central trucking headquarters on Bedford Road. Shown at the wheel is Charles Morgan, Frostburg, parts manager for the company. Running parts and gears of the truck, believed to be one of the oldest in this area, are in good condition, and the solid rubber tires have not been replaced. The four-cylinder engine gives a top speed of about 25 miles an hour. Braces can be seen holding the wooden frame windshield in place. The truck was originally used as a makeshift snowplow in the Red Hill area and later was purchased by a dealer in Corriganville, Steinla officials said. Only changes made to the vehicle recently hve been painting, repairing the seats and installing a platform bed on the rear.

Three Damage Suits Moved To Hagerstown

Removed from court here to Hagerstown for trial in Washington County Circuit Court were three damage suits totaling $37,500.

The suits are those of M. Robert McGuire, Laura B. McGuire, his wife, and Andrew J. Saliga, all of Allegany county.

Jessie F. Crites is the defendant in all three.

Mr. and Mrs. McGuire were passengers in the Saliga car on July 23, 1949, when it figured in an accident with the Crites' car near Cumberland.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McGuire were badly injured, especially Mrs. McGuire, it is alleged, and for his injuries and the loss of his wife's services and the expenses involved in treatment McGuire asks $20,000.

Mrs. McGuire brought suit in her own behalf for personal injuries for $10,000, while Saliga is asking $7,500 for injuries he suffered.

Mrs. McGuire, according to the bill of particulars, was left partially crippled by the accident.

Potomac Coach Lines To End Service Here

Notice has been given by the Potomac Coach Lines of its discontinuance of the Cumberland to Berkeley Springs, W. Va., route to be effective November 4, according to notices in the line's buses.

Whether service will be offered the area after that date rests with the Public Service Commission.

Metropolitan Trailways, operated by R. L. Emery, Jr., formerly head of the Defunct Emery's Motor Coach Lines, said he has applied to the PSC to take over the Potomac Coach Lines route.

Metropolitan Trailways is offering the same service as the old Emery line, all points between Cumberland and Leesburg, Va. The service now is inter-state, Emery said. The application pending would give the line permission to operate intra-state and offer relief to residents of the Oldtown section working at Celanese.

Francis P. Urner, Hagerstown, president of Potomac Coach Lines, said lack of volume and loss of revenue prompted the request to discontinue the run.

He also charged "Metropolitan Trailways operates illegally on that route", adding that the line lacks an inter-state license.

Legion Will Hold Dance Tonight

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will hold an "open house" and dance tonight following the Halloween parade being sponsored by Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight Society.

The music for dancing will be by the Starlighters. Dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

OLD TRUCK RETURNS TO WORK—A veteran mechanic would probably recognize the old truck shown in the picture as a 1915 Mack one-ton vehicle. It was purchased several months ago by the Steinla Motor Company and went into service Friday when a delivery was made to the Celanese central trucking headquarters on Bedford Road. Shown at the wheel is Charles Morgan, Frostburg, parts manager for the company. Running parts and gears of the truck, believed to be one of the oldest in this area, are in good condition, and the solid rubber tires have not been replaced. The four-cylinder engine gives a top speed of about 25 miles an hour. Braces can be seen holding the wooden frame windshield in place. The truck was originally used as a makeshift snowplow in the Red Hill area and later was purchased by a dealer in Corriganville, Steinla officials said. Only changes made to the vehicle recently hve been painting, repairing the seats and installing a platform bed on the rear.

Three Damage Suits Moved To Hagerstown

Removed from court here to Hagerstown for trial in Washington County Circuit Court were three damage suits totaling $37,500.

The suits are those of M. Robert McGuire, Laura B. McGuire, his wife, and Andrew J. Saliga, all of Allegany county.

Jessie F. Crites is the defendant in all three.

Mr. and Mrs. McGuire were passengers in the Saliga car on July 23, 1949, when it figured in an accident with the Crites' car near Cumberland.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McGuire were badly injured, especially Mrs. McGuire, it is alleged, and for his injuries and the loss of his wife's services and the expenses involved in treatment McGuire asks $20,000.

Mrs. McGuire brought suit in her own behalf for personal injuries for $10,000, while Saliga is asking $7,500 for injuries he suffered.

Mrs. McGuire, according to the bill of particulars, was left partially crippled by the accident.

Facts For Philippines

For many months the government of the Philippines had been beset by grave problems. Its authority has been steadily denied by the communistic Hukbalahap movement. It has been unable to get the nation on a solid economic footing. Its measures to deal with such problems have been either inadequate or mishandled.

All of these difficulties have been reflected in news stories printed during the last few days. At a recent press conference, President Truman said the report of the Philippines Study Commission headed by Daniel W. Bell, former Undersecretary of the Treasury, will not be made public for some time—if it ever appears in full.

Manila dispatches describe Filipinos as being critical of that statement. Meanwhile President Quirino has suspended the right of habeas corpus for persons charged with sedition because, according to one report, a Communist plot to seize the government has been discovered.

This last development indicates that the crisis in the islands is beginning to come to a head. President Quirino's decision to try stern measures apparently indicates the days of temporizing are over.

It seems a good sign, too, that many Filipinos want the Bell report brought to light soon and in full. Some of them may feel that way because they expect it to embarrass the government. But others no doubt believe sincerely that the findings should be broadcast so the people of the Philippines will know why their economic ills have gone uncured.

These are considerations President Truman ought to take into account. It is hard to see how suppressing the Bell report will help the Philippines get a grip on this fundamental problem.

An Armed Europe

Day-by-day statements emanating in Washington seem, at first glance, to be considerably at variance. President Truman, for example, says there is no reason to expect "trouble" from the Soviet in Western Europe this winter. But military leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty nations recommend "with urgency" that a supreme commander to set up the common defense of Western Europe be appointed without delay.

The answer to this difference in view is probably to be found in the fact that one expression from a civilian and the other from representatives of the military establishment. By nature and training Army and Navy leaders are extreme pessimists when, it seems to them, security and peace are in jeopardy—which is 365 days a year, every year except leap year.

It is well that that is the case. Their duty is to protect the nation against any possible aggression. Burdened with this responsibility—the greatest that man can imagine—they must be ready for the worst at all times. It's their theory that it's better to be safe than sorry.

In any event, and in spite of the President's reassuring words, no harm can come from moving swiftly to provide Europe with the means for defending itself against the Soviet. Such a course will serve notice on the Russians that any hostile action on their part will meet the well organized resistance of a dozen states. The sooner this objective is attained, the better it will be for the free world.

Airlift Continues

Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, C. O. of the Military Air Transport Service, says the Pacific airlift will continue after the end of hostilities in Korea. "There will be an extensive and further deployment of troops and materiel," he said.

It cannot be assumed the general has secret intelligence reports of new Communist aggression building up. Formosa and Indo-China, of course, are known Red objectives.

With the end of the shooting war, speed in transport is not nearly as urgent as it has been. Steamships will come into their own again as prime carriers. But the planes must keep on flying to the Far East. They will be strung out farther apart, that's all.

Key military and civil personnel must get back and forth in a hurry across the 5,200 miles between San Francisco and Tokyo. There will be rush express boxes of parts for aircraft, tanks and artillery. New refinements for existing armament will be sent out for testing without delay by men who used lash-up models in combat. There will be reels of new movies for entertainment—and continued huge quantities of air mail.

At Pacific Coast airfields freight is being stowed and passengers are going aboard. They'll settle down in upholstery, on hard bucket seats, or fit themselves among the mail sacks as best they can. For them, speed over water is what counts.

When They Name Her

There have been hints from time to time that revised naval strategy may have a place in it for a large flush-deck carrier after all. Work on the original "super carrier," it will be recalled, was started, and as quickly halted, at Norfolk, Va., in the spring of 1949.

These hints may or may not presage resumption of construction of the navy's immense "United States," a name which has since been preempted by a luxury liner. But if they are starting the hull of the biggest combat vessel the world has ever seen, this would seem a good time to forget politics, Korea and the administration's foreign policy long enough to rush into print with a suggestion for a name for her.

The majority of U. S. carriers are named for famous American battles, so it would be appropriate that the new ship carry the name of a tussle the Navy is not likely to forget for some time. The name? Why, U. S. S. Pentagon, of course.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Music With Your Operation

MEDICAL MEN have included music among their remedies for treating the ill. Hospitals have done the same, not only to allay anxiety but to entertain the invalid and make the lonely hours pass more quickly. Its possiblities never have been explored thoroly but it has its limitations in that it will not cure cancer, heart disease, or pernicious anemia.

Primitive races thought music had magic powers to cure sickness. It was here that the Indian medicine man made his mistake because he expected too much from his grizzly bear spirit songs or the shaking of a rattle. The Seminoles chanted to counteract lumbago, hasten childbirth, or help an ailing baby. The Cherokees combated "the great chill" (malaria) with a song that evoked the spirits of the air, mountains, and water, and in severe cases even called upon the whirlwind. We now know that if a good response is obtained it must occur thru emotional reactions.

Many physicians have recommended piano playing to men and women with psychosomatic tendencies. It gives them something to do and takes their mind off their symptoms. Music from records, radio, or television has a soothing effect and certain tunes alleviate anxiety, apprehension, insomnia, fatigue, and nervous indigestion, not to mention heart palpitatio, insomnia, fatigue, and "butterflies" in the stomach." From the practical standpoint melancholia, hysteria, and insomnia victims seem to benefit most. The apathetic or indifferent individual may require a gay tune; the restless and excited need a soothing number. Familiar or folk tunes often bring back pleasant memories and induce a happier outlook on life.

The physiotherapist also is employing music to supply rhythm for corrective exercises. This proved helpful in stimulating the morning daily dozen over the radio and has a similar effect in assisting the paralyzed, the arthritic, and those with muscle weakness to go thru their routines. Band music generally is preferred unless a dance rhythm is in order for the more graceful leg movements.

A novel plan is being carried out at Duke university medical school and Duke hospital in Durham, N. C. For the last six years a group of plastic suregons has been studying the value of music in the operating room. Many of their operations can be done under a local anesthetic; consequently the patient is awake during the entire procedure. The invalids choose the songs they like and the phonograf used is equipped with cushioned ear phones. In this way, music does not bother the surgical team nor do extraneous noises and conversation in the amphitheater annoy the patient. In addition, his attention is directed from himself to music, which helps reduce fright and anxiety to a minimum.

If you were going to be operated upon, what songs would select? Most of the group in this series chose soft, melodious orchestrations and vocals. The music of Wayne King, Sammy Kaye, and the singing of Vaughn Monroe were some of the favorities. Base and baritone solos and quartet arrangements also pleased many. The after-dinner type of music rather than hymns, spirituals, and soprano vocals headed the list. Youngsters preferred stories, selected readings, and children's music.

No. Softening is referred to as osteomalacia and is caused by a disturbance in calcium and phosphorus metabolism. Occasionally arthritis is associated with decalcification of the bone but this does not mean that the two terms are synonymous.

FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Truman Gets Peace Advice From Hindu Ambassador; Friend Of Nazi Agent Attempts Congressional Comeback In West Virginia; Navy League Revives Feud

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — At the diplomatic reception following President Truman's address to the U. N. General Assembly, Indian delegate Jamsaheb stepped up to the President and surprised him with an on-the-spot peace proposal.

"Would it not be a good idea," said the Hindu diplomat, "to begin the Big Five peace talks here and now, Mr. Vishinsky being in the same room with you, sir?"

"I have Secretary Acheson here for that job," replied Mr. Truman, slightly taken aback.

"Quite right, sir," replied Delegate Jamsaheb with a low bow. "But there's an old Indian proverb that you can't keep a dog and do your own barking."

The President did not seem to catch the point, and the Hindu ambassador passed on.

Though what he said was meant in all friendliness, he had unwittingly touched on the fact that there had been a lot of official barking in Washington before the State Department and the White House could reach an agreement as to what the President should say in his U. N. speech about disarmament. Some advisers protested this was no moment to talk of anything but arming. Other advisers agreed that it was necessary to give Europe some hope for peace. The latter "hopeful" group finally won out.

Friend Of Nazi Agent

WATCHING THE CANDIDATES —The motto, "elect in haste, repent at leisure," has sent so many misfits to Congress that this column herewith calls attention to some of the little-realized qualities of congressional candidates.

Candidate for Congress in West Virginia is the onetime so-called "boy wonder of the Senate"—Rush Dew Holt. Before Pearl Harbor, Holt, then a Democratic senator, was friendly with Nazi agents. Specifically he was dickering with George Sylvester Viereck, nephew of the Kaiser and the paid agent of Hitler, to publish a book on "Who's Who Among the Warmongers" which accused the Roosevelt administration of pushing the United States into war with Germany.

Holt finished the manuscript and discussed its publication with both Viereck and Sigfried Holt, president of the Nazi-subsidized publishing firm, Flanders Hall. Most of these facts were published by the Washington Merry-Go-Round and later became the basis of the federal prosecution of Viereck, ending in a six year jail sentence handed Viereck by forthright Judge Dickinson Letts.

During the course of the trial, a British censor revealed that a communication between Nazi agents in Washington about the Holt book was mailed to Dr. Hans Diekhoff, former German ambassador in Washington, then head of the American section of the German Foreign Office. An attempt was made to conceal the letter by putting it in an inner envelope and mailing it to a fake address in neutral Portugal.

However, the British censor in Bermuda caught it just the same.

Holt, then a member of the U. S. Senate, was so anxious to have his book published by Nazi Agent Viereck that he even offered to put up $1,000 of his own money to defray expenses.

Today, ex-Senator Holt, hoping the public has forgotten his past, is running for the House of Representatives in the Third district of West Virginia.

Pentagon Invaded

The Western European ministers of defense are now holding vitally important debates in Washington to plan North Atlantic defense in case of war. They came prepared for almost anything, including an invasion by Russia, but not for the invasion of the press that swarmed over them in the Pentagon.

For fifteen minutes reporters fired questions and photographers popped flashbulbs. A newsreel cameraman's kleig light fell over, and almost conked a Portuguese general on the head. Other photographers climbed on chairs, window sills, and each other for better shots.

One photographer even planted one foot on a window sill and the other on the shoulder of Britain's plump wing commander George Wiles.

This was too much.

Navy-Air Force Row

Now that the Korean war is about over, the Navy League—civilian arm of the navy—is stirring up the navy-air force feud again and plotting a propaganda campaign that may blow the lid off unification.

Navy League President Frank Hecht has been holding closed-door meetings with navy partisans across the country to map strategy for clipping the air force's wings. These meetings are supposed to be highly secret. However, while on the West Coast, I learned what happened at a typical meeting in San Diego.

It was attended by Navy League members and high navy brass, who were notified by penny postcard. The brass included Vice Admiral Calvin Durgin, commander of the Western Sea Frontier, and Rear Admiral Wilder Baker, commander of the 11th Naval District.

Hecht outlined a secret, three-point plan of action, as follows:

1. To reinstate Navy day. This was abolished in favor of Armed Forces day, but now the navy wants it back again.

2. To place the marine corps commandant on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This would give the navy two votes on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

3. To take tactical air support away from the air force and give it back to the army. This would weaken the air force.

Hecht urged a campaign in the newspapers and in Congress to put across these three objectives. He charged that the "Korean war clearly shows the air force was unable to fill the army's need for air support."

NOTE—It appears that the Navy League has already got to House Armed Services Chairman Vinson of Georgia who has called for hearings on tactical air support. With the Navy League and the admirals secretly passing him the ammunition, this hearing may turn out just as explosive as the famous B-36 hearing.

MATTER OF FACT

By STEWART ALSOP

Mr. Gloom And Mr. Cheer

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—

OBSERVING the political goings-on in Ohio, Indiana, and here in Missouri, is rather like seeing the same play three times, with different actors in the main parts. The two principal parts are, of course, those of the Republican Incumbent and the Democrat Challenger.

The part of the Republican incumbent calls for a somewhat crotchety fellow, getting on in age. He is very gloomy. He sees doom just around the corner. He warns constantly of the menace of world communism. But just to add a note of human inconsistency, his Senate record reveals that he has supported very spottily if at all those measures designed to deal with world communism. This part, played by Taft in Ohio and Capehart in Indiana, is played here by Senator Forrest Donnell, the crotchetiest of the lot.

The part of Democratic Challenger requires a younger and sleeker character. He is most cheerful. According to him, prosperity is permanent, and world peace assured, thanks to Harry Truman's Fair Deal. But he is humanly inconsistent also. For even as he extolls the Fair Deal, he backs rapidly away from those domestic measures which specifically identify it—notably the Brannan Plan and the Ewing health plan. This part, played by Alexander Campbell in Indiana and, somewhat inadequately, by Joseph Ferguson in Ohio, is played here, with considerable flair, by former Congressman Tom Hennings.

Individual Twist

Although basically the same, the plot of this political drama is given its individual twist in each state. In Missouri the plot is embellished by a familiar dramatic theme — man's infidelity to man. Both candidates suffer from a certain faithlessness in their own party. The Republican infidelity to Donnell is strictly a local matter.

Here in St. Louis, the local Republican bigwigs have quite frankly written Donnell off. They are openly instructing the voters in the art of the split ticket—how to vote for Hennings and at the same time for local Republican candidates. This is sure to hurt Donnell badly. He has also been hurt by a complex vendetta within the Republican organization, which has thoroughly disrupted the organization, leaving it short on money and leadership.

Donnell has never, however, been an organization man, and he has never been strong in St. Louis, which he is apt to compare publicly and disparaging with the rural areas, where his real strength lies. In the rural counties he has been campaigning with an energy rivalling that of Senator Taft. His campaign line is a familiar one throughout the Middle West—the Truman administration is responsible for casualties in Korea, communism, confusion, corruption, and the cost of living. But probably more effective than this collection of Cs is Donnell's campaign style, which is wonderfully folksy (he is said to remember not only the names of the voters, but the names of the voters' cows) and his public reputation for a fanatical personal honesty.

The Challenger, Hennings, also has his troubles in his own party. Last week both state chairman Charles Huttig and state organizer Richard Nacy travelled to Washington. Their mission was to get money for the Hennings' campaign, and also the public blessing of President Truman. They returned disgruntled, with neither money nor blessing. There are various explanations for this failure of a mission.

Dislike Hennings

One is that Truman has too often burnt his fingers in his home state, most recently when Hennings defeated the Truman-backed candidate in the primaries, the colorless Emery Allison. Another is that Truman simply dislikes Hennings personally.

Presumably Truman will be obliged to say a kind word for Hennings when he speaks here next week. Yet Hennings can anticipate little real help from Washington. But he too is an effective campaigner. He has even introduced a refreshing note of honesty in the campaign, by backing Truman's veto of the anti-Communist bill, and refusing to back down (for which he was applauded by the influential and brilliantly edited St. Louis Post-Dispatch). Hennings' battle with Allison has actually been a major asset, since Allison was backed by the slightly decomposed remnants of the Kansas City Binaggio and Pendergast machines, and since the Democrats have now closed ranks behind Hennings. Finally, Hennings is receiving effective support from labor which has marked Donnell as target number two, after Taft.

For such reasons, Hennings is believed here to have a slight edge. But the fact is that here, as everywhere in the Middle West, there is a huge "mute vote" this year. No one really knows whether the voters, the audience for whom this political drama is being played out, actually prefer that gloomy fellow, the Republican Incumbent, or his rather speciously cheery rival, the Democratic Challenger.

Independent Democrats May Hold Fate Of Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — More significant than any other factor arising out of the congressional elections on November 7 will be the effect on the future of the Democratic party.

Will the Democratic party, as it has been known for decades, become in everything except name the party of a labor-union machine? Through virtually complete control of billions of dollars of union dues a few labor-union leaders could take over the Democratic party lock, stock and barrel and dictate who shall be its candidates hereafter.

This could not possibly happen if independent votes are cast by lifelong Democrats who cherish the memory of a great party founded by Jefferson and strengthened by Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt.

It could not happen if the independent Democrats differentiate between truly capable candidates and those who merely have the endorsement of a labor-union clique.

If the labor-union bosses have their way and a majority of their candidates are elected this time to either the House or the Senate, the real Democratic party will develop a cleavage such as it never has experienced since Civil war days. Many of the independent Democrats do not want to see in Washington a labor-union government dominated by the "left wing" as is the case with Great Britain today. They do not want to see a reactionary regime established which under the guise of so-called liberalism can effectuate a result hostile to smaller enterprises and individual freedom inside labor unions. But the independent Democrats will be powerless after November 7 if the party machinery passes into new hands.

Bossism Becomes Pertinent

The issue of bossism, hitherto confined to city machines, now becomes pertinent as the labor unions reveal that their political organizations are designed to control the votes of the rank aid file in political elections. While for many years labor unions have engaged in politics, there has never been such a brazen attempt to coerce the rank and file and make them vote for particular candidates who have sold their independence to labor-union chiefs for a mess of pottage in the form of public endorsements.

The danger in the possible capture of the machinery of the Democratic party by the labor-union bosses is that they will begin to exercise control at the state and city levels as well. This will mean local police chiefs indifferent to law and order in labor disputes and it will mean greater and greater coercion of the individual by political force.

There are many good men running for public office today against whom weak candidates have been nominated in opposition. The regular Democrat is supposed to vote for the party candidate even though he knows the opponent is a better man. It is this surrender of judgment on which the labor-union chiefs are counting. Without it they could not win. For the labor-union vote itself, even if cast entirely for one candidate, would in most congressional or senatorial contests not be enough to gain a victory. The solid labor-union vote, however, plus the blind merit of the opposing candidates will be enough in most instances to assure victory for the choices of the labor group.

Beginnings Of Dissent

Inside labor unions there are the beginnings of dissent. Many rank-and-file members resent being told how to vote and want to exercise their American privilege of voting for the better man irrespective of labor-union coercion. But this is still a small number.

A hundred Hanley letters would not blot from view the evil purpose contained in the $500,000 loan made by the CIO to the 1936 campaign fund which Franklin Roosevelt ordered paid off later when John L. Lewis insisted the loan was made to get the Wagner Labor act passed. Two wrongs do not make a right but the use of labor-union funds improperly is one of the scandals of the age which timid administration officials today do not have the courage to ferret out through law violations are plainly involved.

On the broad political aspects, it has always been apparent that a determined minority with plenty of funds could take over a major political party and gradually force its previous leaders to take seat on the side lines. If the candidates backed by the labor-union politicians do come out victoriously this November, the Democratic party will pass into the hands of a new set of managers. The answer lies with the independent Democrats.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Roof Of The Earth

SOVIET CHINA announces the invasion of the theocracy of Tibet, an isolated country, sparsely settled and devoted to the Lamaistic form of Buddhism. Only Tibet and the Vatican City are owned by religions; Tibet by Buddhism, at the head of which is the Dalai Lama, the Vatican by the Roman Catholic Church, at the head of which is the Bishop of Rome, the Pope.

The possession of Tibet by the cominform, through Soviet Russia or Soviet China, which are identical, would give to this imperialist power a tremendous leverage in Buddhistic countries, which include all the nations of the Indo-Chinese world. Already Soviet Russia holds Mongolia and China, two very important Buddhistic areas.

Tibet is the highest country in the world, ranging from 12,000 to 24,000 feet toward the clouds. Its height has in the past given it protection against predatory countries, although it has been invaded and conquered. It is surrounded by China and Turkestan, by Kashmir and Ladak, by India, Nepal and Bhutan. Its capital is the holy city of Lhasa.

The Tibetans call their country Bod; Tibet is a Europeanized corruption of the word which means high Bod. It is a cold, hard land, difficult for human life. Out of it flow the great rivers of Asia in torrents down the mountain passes.

The people of Tibet are of Mongolian origin, with racial admixtures as the borders are reached. Their spoken language is close to the Burmese; their written language is derived from sanskrit. Their literature is wholly religious.

Tibet is probably the only country where polyandry is practised; that is, a woman marries a family of brothers. The religion is primitive, monastic Buddhism, called Lamaism, the monks living in vast monasteries in poverty and chastity. The government of the country is completely in the hands of the Lamas, among whom the greatest is the Dalai Lama, the ecclesiastical head, residing in Lhasa; the Panchen Tashi Lama is second in influence and often first in power. He sometimes comes out into the world and engages in politics.

The Dalai Lama is chosen by metempsychosis. According to this Buddhistic doctrine, life is eternal; there is no death. The life of a being is in many forms through interminable ages. The soul of man may move, upon his death, into the body of a higher or a lower being, depending upon his goodness.

This perhaps is as correct a statement of Buddhistic natural law (Karma) as any other:

"According to the seed that's sown,
So is the fruit ye reap therefrom.
Doer of good will gather good,
Doer of evil evil reaps.
Sown is the seed, and thou shalt taste
The fruit thereof."

So when the Dalai Lama dies, a quest is made for a male baby born at precisely that moment, for the soul must find a body, whether of man or beast or insect. Once the hierarchy among the Lamas decides that this particular babe is the one, he is taken to Lhasa, becomes the Dalai Lama and for a good part of his life is, in effect, the prisoner of his guardians.

The possession of the Dalai Lama is, therefore, of great importance politically in the Buddhistic world, particularly among those Buddhists who adhere to Lamaism. Buddhism seeded itself in Tibet in the Eighth century as part of a social revolution — there was to be no distinction between rich and poor, humble and great. However, at the end of each great reform, the rich were rich and the poor were poor, which surprised the Tibetan sages.

Tibet was conquered by the Mongols under Kublai Khan, and thus China became the Suzerain over Tibet, an authority now claimed by Soviet China. The Ming rulers of China found it more satisfactory to deal with the Tibetan ecclesiastics than with laymen and thus the authority of the Lamas was confirmed by the great power of China.

In the 20th century, Tibet came within the sphere of influence of British India, which controlled the best paths toward Lhasa. The situation was complicated by Russian intrigue, the Russians, as far back as 1880, seeking a sphere of influence in that country, incidentally indicating to Lhasa that the czar and his family might be converted to Buddhism!

As Russian imperialism expands into Tibet, the peculiar nature of the country and Buddhism in its Lamaistic form must be described and grasped.

Facts For Philippines

For many months the government of the Philippines had been beset by grave problems. Its authority has been steadily denied by the communistic Hukbalahap movement. It has been unable to get the nation on a solid economic footing. Its measures to deal with such problems have been either inadequate or mishandled.

All of these difficulties have been reflected in news stories printed during the last few days. At a recent press conference, President Truman said the report of the Philippines Study Commission headed by Daniel W. Bell, former Undersecretary of the Treasury, will not be made public for some time—if it ever appears in full.

Manila dispatches describe Filipinos as being critical of that statement. Meanwhile President Quirino has suspended the right of habeas corpus for persons charged with sedition because, according to one report, a Communist plot to seize the government has been discovered.

This last development indicates that the crisis in the islands is beginning to come to a head. President Quirino's decision to try stern measures apparently indicates the days of temporizing are over.

It seems a good sign, too, that many Filipinos want the Bell report brought to light soon and in full. Some of them may feel that way because they expect it to embarrass the government. But others no doubt believe sincerely that the findings should be broadcast so the people of the Philippines will know why their economic ills have gone uncured.

These are considerations President Truman ought to take into account. It is hard to see how suppressing the Bell report will help the Philippines get a grip on this fundamental problem.

An Armed Europe

Day-by-day statements emanating in Washington seem, at first glance, to be considerably at variance. President Truman, for example, says there is no reason to expect "trouble" from the Soviet in Western Europe this winter. But military leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty nations recommend "with urgency" that a supreme commander to set up the common defense of Western Europe be appointed without delay.

The answer to this difference in view is probably to be found in the fact that one expression from a civilian and the other from representatives of the military establishment. By nature and training Army and Navy leaders are extreme pessimists when, it seems to them, security and peace are in jeopardy—which is 365 days a year, every year except leap year.

It is well that that is the case. Their duty is to protect the nation against any possible aggression. Burdened with this responsibility—the greatest that man can imagine—they must be ready for the worst at all times. It's their theory that it's better to be safe than sorry.

In any event, and in spite of the President's reassuring words, no harm can come from moving swiftly to provide Europe with the means for defending itself against the Soviet. Such a course will serve notice on the Russians that any hostile action on their part will meet the well organized resistance of a dozen states. The sooner this objective is attained, the better it will be for the free world.

Airlift Continues

Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, C. O. of the Military Air Transport Service, says the Pacific airlift will continue after the end of hostilities in Korea. "There will be an extensive and further deployment of troops and materiel," he said.

It cannot be assumed the general has secret intelligence reports of new Communist aggression building up. Formosa and Indo-China, of course, are known Red objectives.

With the end of the shooting war, speed in transport is not nearly as urgent as it has been. Steamships will come into their own again as prime carriers. But the planes must keep on flying to the Far East. They will be strung out farther apart, that's all.

Key military and civil personnel must get back and forth in a hurry across the 5,200 miles between San Francisco and Tokyo. There will be rush express boxes of parts for aircraft, tanks and artillery. New refinements for existing armament will be sent out for testing without delay by men who used lash-up models in combat. There will be reels of new movies for entertainment—and continued huge quantities of air mail.

At Pacific Coast airfields freight is being stowed and passengers are going aboard. They'll settle down in upholstery, on hard bucket seats, or fit themselves among the mail sacks as best they can. For them, speed over water is what counts.

When They Name Her

There have been hints from time to time that revised naval strategy may have a place in it for a large flush-deck carrier after all. Work on the original "super carrier," it will be recalled, was started, and as quickly halted, at Norfolk, Va., in the spring of 1949.

These hints may or may not presage resumption of construction of the navy's immense "United States," a name which has since been preempted by a luxury liner. But if they are starting the hull of the biggest combat vessel the world has ever seen, this would seem a good time to forget politics, Korea and the administration's foreign policy long enough to rush into print with a suggestion for a name for her.

The majority of U. S. carriers are named for famous American battles, so it would be appropriate that the new ship carry the name of a tussle the Navy is not likely to forget for some time. The name? Why, U. S. S. Pentagon, of course.

Music With Your Operation

MEDICAL MEN have included music among their remedies for treating the ill. Hospitals have done the same, not only to allay anxiety but to entertain the invalid and make the lonely hours pass more quickly. Its possiblities never have been explored thoroly but it has its limitations in that it will not cure cancer, heart disease, or pernicious anemia.

Primitive races thought music had magic powers to cure sickness. It was here that the Indian medicine man made his mistake because he expected too much from his grizzly bear spirit songs or the shaking of a rattle. The Seminoles chanted to counteract lumbago, hasten childbirth, or help an ailing baby. The Cherokees combated "the great chill" (malaria) with a song that evoked the spirits of the air, mountains, and water, and in severe cases even called upon the whirlwind. We now know that if a good response is obtained it must occur thru emotional reactions.

Many physicians have recommended piano playing to men and women with psychosomatic tendencies. It gives them something to do and takes their mind off their symptoms. Music from records, radio, or television has a soothing effect and certain tunes alleviate anxiety, apprehension, insomnia, fatigue, and nervous indigestion, not to mention heart palpitatio, insomnia, fatigue, and "butterflies" in the stomach." From the practical standpoint melancholia, hysteria, and insomnia victims seem to benefit most. The apathetic or indifferent individual may require a gay tune; the restless and excited need a soothing number. Familiar or folk tunes often bring back pleasant memories and induce a happier outlook on life.

The physiotherapist also is employing music to supply rhythm for corrective exercises. This proved helpful in stimulating the morning daily dozen over the radio and has a similar effect in assisting the paralyzed, the arthritic, and those with muscle weakness to go thru their routines. Band music generally is preferred unless a dance rhythm is in order for the more graceful leg movements.

A novel plan is being carried out at Duke university medical school and Duke hospital in Durham, N. C. For the last six years a group of plastic suregons has been studying the value of music in the operating room. Many of their operations can be done under a local anesthetic; consequently the patient is awake during the entire procedure. The invalids choose the songs they like and the phonograf used is equipped with cushioned ear phones. In this way, music does not bother the surgical team nor do extraneous noises and conversation in the amphitheater annoy the patient. In addition, his attention is directed from himself to music, which helps reduce fright and anxiety to a minimum.

If you were going to be operated upon, what songs would select? Most of the group in this series chose soft, melodious orchestrations and vocals. The music of Wayne King, Sammy Kaye, and the singing of Vaughn Monroe were some of the favorities. Base and baritone solos and quartet arrangements also pleased many. The after-dinner type of music rather than hymns, spirituals, and soprano vocals headed the list. Youngsters preferred stories, selected readings, and children's music.

No. Softening is referred to as osteomalacia and is caused by a disturbance in calcium and phosphorus metabolism. Occasionally arthritis is associated with decalcification of the bone but this does not mean that the two terms are synonymous.

Truman Gets Peace Advice From Hindu Ambassador; Friend Of Nazi Agent Attempts Congressional Comeback In West Virginia; Navy League Revives Feud

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — At the diplomatic reception following President Truman's address to the U. N. General Assembly, Indian delegate Jamsaheb stepped up to the President and surprised him with an on-the-spot peace proposal.

"Would it not be a good idea," said the Hindu diplomat, "to begin the Big Five peace talks here and now, Mr. Vishinsky being in the same room with you, sir?"

"I have Secretary Acheson here for that job," replied Mr. Truman, slightly taken aback.

"Quite right, sir," replied Delegate Jamsaheb with a low bow. "But there's an old Indian proverb that you can't keep a dog and do your own barking."

The President did not seem to catch the point, and the Hindu ambassador passed on.

Though what he said was meant in all friendliness, he had unwittingly touched on the fact that there had been a lot of official barking in Washington before the State Department and the White House could reach an agreement as to what the President should say in his U. N. speech about disarmament. Some advisers protested this was no moment to talk of anything but arming. Other advisers agreed that it was necessary to give Europe some hope for peace. The latter "hopeful" group finally won out.

Friend Of Nazi Agent

WATCHING THE CANDIDATES—The motto, "elect in haste, repent at leisure," has sent so many misfits to Congress that this column herewith calls attention to some of the little-realized qualities of congressional candidates.

Candidate for Congress in West Virginia is the onetime so-called "boy wonder of the Senate"—Rush Dew Holt. Before Pearl Harbor, Holt, then a Democratic senator, was friendly with Nazi agents. Specifically he was dickering with George Sylvester Viereck, nephew of the Kaiser and the paid agent of Hitler, to publish a book on "Who's Who Among the Warmongers" which accused the Roosevelt administration of pushing the United States into war with Germany.

Holt finished the manuscript and discussed its publication with both Viereck and Sigfried Holt, president of the Nazi-subsidized publishing firm, Flanders Hall. Most of these facts were published by the Washington Merry-Go-Round and later became the basis of the federal prosecution of Viereck, ending in a six year jail sentence handed Viereck by forthright Judge Dickinson Letts.

During the course of the trial, a British censor revealed that a communication between Nazi agents in Washington about the Holt book was mailed to Dr. Hans Diekhoff, former German ambassador in Washington, then head of the American section of the German Foreign Office. An attempt was made to conceal the letter by putting it in an inner envelope and mailing it to a fake address in neutral Portugal.

However, the British censor in Bermuda caught it just the same.

Holt, then a member of the U. S. Senate, was so anxious to have his book published by Nazi Agent Viereck that he even offered to put up $1,000 of his own money to defray expenses.

Today, ex-Senator Holt, hoping the public has forgotten his past, is running for the House of Representatives in the Third district of West Virginia.

Pentagon Invaded

The Western European ministers of defense are now holding vitally important debates in Washington to plan North Atlantic defense in case of war. They came prepared for almost anything, including an invasion by Russia, but not for the invasion of the press that swarmed over them in the Pentagon.

For fifteen minutes reporters fired questions and photographers popped flashbulbs. A newsreel cameraman's kleig light fell over, and almost conked a Portuguese general on the head. Other photographers climbed on chairs, window sills, and each other for better shots.

One photographer even planted one foot on a window sill and the other on the shoulder of Britain's plump wing commander George Wiles.

This was too much.

Navy-Air Force Row

Now that the Korean war is about over, the Navy League—civilian arm of the navy—is stirring up the navy-air force feud again and plotting a propaganda campaign that may blow the lid off unification.

Navy League President Frank Hecht has been holding closed-door meetings with navy partisans across the country to map strategy for clipping the air force's wings. These meetings are supposed to be highly secret. However, while on the West Coast, I learned what happened at a typical meeting in San Diego.

It was attended by Navy League members and high navy brass, who were notified by penny postcard. The brass included Vice Admiral Calvin Durgin, commander of the Western Sea Frontier, and Rear Admiral Wilder Baker, commander of the 11th Naval District.

Hecht outlined a secret, three-point plan of action, as follows:

1. To reinstate Navy day. This was abolished in favor of Armed Forces day, but now the navy wants it back again.

2. To place the marine corps commandant on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. This would give the navy two votes on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

3. To take tactical air support away from the air force and give it back to the army. This would weaken the air force.

Hecht urged a campaign in the newspapers and in Congress to put across these three objectives. He charged that the "Korean war clearly shows the air force was unable to fill the army's need for air support."

NOTE—It appears that the Navy League has already got to House Armed Services Chairman Vinson of Georgia who has called for hearings on tactical air support. With the Navy League and the admirals secretly passing him the ammunition, this hearing may turn out just as explosive as the famous B-36 hearing.

Independent Democrats May Hold Fate Of Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — More significant than any other factor arising out of the congressional elections on November 7 will be the effect on the future of the Democratic party.

Will the Democratic party, as it has been known for decades, become in everything except name the party of a labor-union machine? Through virtually complete control of billions of dollars of union dues a few labor-union leaders could take over the Democratic party lock, stock and barrel and dictate who shall be its candidates hereafter.

This could not possibly happen if independent votes are cast by lifelong Democrats who cherish the memory of a great party founded by Jefferson and strengthened by Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt.

It could not happen if the independent Democrats differentiate between truly capable candidates and those who merely have the endorsement of a labor-union clique.

If the labor-union bosses have their way and a majority of their candidates are elected this time to either the House or the Senate, the real Democratic party will develop a cleavage such as it never has experienced since Civil war days. Many of the independent Democrats do not want to see in Washington a labor-union government dominated by the "left wing" as is the case with Great Britain today. They do not want to see a reactionary regime established which under the guise of so-called liberalism can effectuate a result hostile to smaller enterprises and individual freedom inside labor unions. But the independent Democrats will be powerless after November 7 if the party machinery passes into new hands.

Bossism Becomes Pertinent

The issue of bossism, hitherto confined to city machines, now becomes pertinent as the labor unions reveal that their political organizations are designed to control the votes of the rank aid file in political elections. While for many years labor unions have engaged in politics, there has never been such a brazen attempt to coerce the rank and file and make them vote for particular candidates who have sold their independence to labor-union chiefs for a mess of pottage in the form of public endorsements.

The danger in the possible capture of the machinery of the Democratic party by the labor-union bosses is that they will begin to exercise control at the state and city levels as well. This will mean local police chiefs indifferent to law and order in labor disputes and it will mean greater and greater coercion of the individual by political force.

There are many good men running for public office today against whom weak candidates have been nominated in opposition. The regular Democrat is supposed to vote for the party candidate even though he knows the opponent is a better man. It is this surrender of judgment on which the labor-union chiefs are counting. Without it they could not win. For the labor-union vote itself, even if cast entirely for one candidate, would in most congressional or senatorial contests not be enough to gain a victory. The solid labor-union vote, however, plus the blind merit of the opposing candidates will be enough in most instances to assure victory for the choices of the labor group.

Beginnings Of Dissent

Inside labor unions there are the beginnings of dissent. Many rank-and-file members resent being told how to vote and want to exercise their American privilege of voting for the better man irrespective of labor-union coercion. But this is still a small number.

A hundred Hanley letters would not blot from view the evil purpose contained in the $500,000 loan made by the CIO to the 1936 campaign fund which Franklin Roosevelt ordered paid off later when John L. Lewis insisted the loan was made to get the Wagner Labor act passed. Two wrongs do not make a right but the use of labor-union funds improperly is one of the scandals of the age which timid administration officials today do not have the courage to ferret out through law violations are plainly involved.

On the broad political aspects, it has always been apparent that a determined minority with plenty of funds could take over a major political party and gradually force its previous leaders to take seat on the side lines. If the candidates backed by the labor-union politicians do come out victoriously this November, the Democratic party will pass into the hands of a new set of managers. The answer lies with the independent Democrats.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Roof Of The Earth

SOVIET CHINA announces the invasion of the theocracy of Tibet, an isolated country, sparsely settled and devoted to the Lamaistic form of Buddhism. Only Tibet and the Vatican City are owned by religions; Tibet by Buddhism, at the head of which is the Dalai Lama, the Vatican by the Roman Catholic Church, at the head of which is the Bishop of Rome, the Pope.

The possession of Tibet by the cominform, through Soviet Russia or Soviet China, which are identical, would give to this imperialist power a tremendous leverage in Buddhistic countries, which include all the nations of the Indo-Chinese world. Already Soviet Russia holds Mongolia and China, two very important Buddhistic areas.

Tibet is the highest country in the world, ranging from 12,000 to 24,000 feet toward the clouds. Its height has in the past given it protection against predatory countries, although it has been invaded and conquered. It is surrounded by China and Turkestan, by Kashmir and Ladak, by India, Nepal and Bhutan. Its capital is the holy city of Lhasa.

The Tibetans call their country Bod; Tibet is a Europeanized corruption of the word which means high Bod. It is a cold, hard land, difficult for human life. Out of it flow the great rivers of Asia in torrents down the mountain passes.

The people of Tibet are of Mongolian origin, with racial admixtures as the borders are reached. Their spoken language is close to the Burmese; their written language is derived from sanskrit. Their literature is wholly religious.

Tibet is probably the only country where polyandry is practised; that is, a woman marries a family of brothers. The religion is primitive, monastic Buddhism, called Lamaism, the monks living in vast monasteries in poverty and chastity. The government of the country is completely in the hands of the Lamas, among whom the greatest is the Dalai Lama, the ecclesiastical head, residing in Lhasa; the Panchen Tashi Lama is second in influence and often first in power. He sometimes comes out into the world and engages in politics.

The Dalai Lama is chosen by metempsychosis. According to this Buddhistic doctrine, life is eternal; there is no death. The life of a being is in many forms through interminable ages. The soul of man may move, upon his death, into the body of a higher or a lower being, depending upon his goodness.

This perhaps is as correct a statement of Buddhistic natural law (Karma) as any other:

"According to the seed that's sown,
So is the fruit ye reap therefrom.
Doer of good will gather good,
Doer of evil evil reaps.
Sown is the seed, and thou shalt taste
The fruit thereof."

So when the Dalai Lama dies, a quest is made for a male baby born at precisely that moment, for the soul must find a body, whether of man or beast or insect. Once the hierarchy among the Lamas decides that this particular babe is the one, he is taken to Lhasa, becomes the Dalai Lama and for a good part of his life is, in effect, the prisoner of his guardians.

The possession of the Dalai Lama is, therefore, of great importance politically in the Buddhistic world, particularly among those Buddhists who adhere to Lamaism. Buddhism seeded itself in Tibet in the Eighth century as part of a social revolution — there was to be no distinction between rich and poor, humble and great. However, at the end of each great reform, the rich were rich and the poor were poor, which surprised the Tibetan sages.

Tibet was conquered by the Mongols under Kublai Khan, and thus China became the Suzerain over Tibet, an authority now claimed by Soviet China. The Ming rulers of China found it more satisfactory to deal with the Tibetan ecclesiastics than with laymen and thus the authority of the Lamas was confirmed by the great power of China.

In the 20th century, Tibet came within the sphere of influence of British India, which controlled the best paths toward Lhasa. The situation was complicated by Russian intrigue, the Russians, as far back as 1880, seeking a sphere of influence in that country, incidentally indicating to Lhasa that the czar and his family might be converted to Buddhism!

As Russian imperialism expands into Tibet, the peculiar nature of the country and Buddhism in its Lamaistic form must be described and grasped.

The church was founded in 1850. The first record, in a roll book of Class No. 1, of Paddytown, now Keyser, shows the names of Mosley, Singleton and Mytinger

Rev. R. Moorman Parker, Charleston, executive secretary of the Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Church, is here assisting in the campaign.

Teams have been organized in two divisions, with Chester J. Compton directing the workers in the first division and Mrs. G. H. Klinestiver, the second division. Each will have eight captains. The special gifts committee is composed of J. L. Shay, chairman; E. V. Romig, George H. Rinard and Mrs. Alice Steorts.

The executive committee includes Calvin McCoole, general chairman, Luke McDowell, honorary chairman; J. R. Wilson, building fund treasurer; Rev. L. A. Steel, pastor; Mrs. C. A. Steiding, secretary, and C. C. Compton, Church School superintendent.

Officers of the church and Sunday School are E. V. Romig, treasurer; J. E. Prettyman, financial secretary; C. C. The present church building is 56 years old. It was built at a time when the membership was only about 200, and Keyser was a small place. The present membership is 900. It is estimated the cost of the remodeling program will cost approximately $58,000, with furnishings and equipment another $7,000.

The plans call for youth department class rooms in the basement with a youth activity room adequate for 100 persons. The furnace room will be moved to the rear of the building, making way for a more adequate kitchen with outside entrance and windows. The social hall will be enlarged to seat 200 persons at tables. There will also be basement toilets.

The present Sunday School room will be remodelled to make a chapel, which may be used as an overflow room, an intermediate department with an assembly room and class rooms. On the first floor there will also be a church parlor, a pastor's study, a church school office, a choir room and a Beginners' Department with class rooms.

The second floor will be made into a Junior Department with class rooms.

McKeldin Promises

In this connection, the Republican said "we must seek permanently to develop and foster the natural and industrial opportunities in this area."

He proposed "permanent" planning to develop such things as the "competitive market position of Maryland coal" and "making a splendid resort area providing jobs for many and attracting tourist trade with attendant spending in the area."

McKeldin, with William A. Gunter, GOP candidate for attorney general; John Marshall Butler, U. S. Senatorial candidate, and Rep. Beall last night completed a tour of virtually every Georges Creek community.

The caravan stopped at Grantsville last night and will visit Garrett county towns today.

The Western Maryland tour will end with a rally in Oakland tonight, after which the candidates will return to Baltimore.

Rice said it is illegal to carry uncased guns in the woods on Sunday, and Dawson and Patterson could be charged with this violation.

However, he explained, "The whole affair seems to have been very hush, hush, and I am trying to find out why."

He said last night he had not talked with Patterson, but expects to.

a result of our State law; the law is not a curb on freedom, except a curb on the freedom of those whose purpose it is to be subversive. It is my information that the Communists are fighting to abolish the law in Maryland. If that is correct, and I presume it is, they will vote against the Ober Law on Tuesday, November 7, and if they vote against it, I certainly will want to vote for it. I cannot associate myself with the Communist way of life. I want human freedom as much as any red-blooded American does, but only when that freedom does not give license to destroy our own government; when it does not give license to destroy freedom itself, to destroy our democracy; to sabotage our program of American progress and to destroy religion.

"If we can reconcile the philosophy of the religion of Christianity with the attempt to destroy the true brotherhood of man; if we can reconcile the highest humanitarian principles with the rape of nations as practiced by Communism; if we can reconcile deceit and fraud, which grows out of the Communistic philosophy, with the high humanitarianism which is preached and practiced in our own country; if we can reconcile human freedom with slavery, human decency with debachery; if we can reconcile democracy as portrayed in the principles underlying the United Nations with the autocractic and authoritarian practices of Communism, along with lies, deceit and fraud, then our cold intelligence, even without any emotion, will dictate that we should vote to abolish the Ober Law. If, on the contrary, we cannot reconcile these two opposite philosophies, then our thinking and actions will take form accordingly.

Praises Teacher Action

"It is not too often that we have the opportunity effectively to express ourselves in matters which have the far-reaching consequences as an attack against Communism has at this time. If I can strike any blow, even in a feeble way, against the viciousness of Communism — even as the Communist uses every device to strike at democracy to do so, and I am proud of the privilege to declare my loyalty to my country by voting to retain the Ober Law, and by signing the oath.

"On November 7, vote as your conscience dictates.

P. S. I have just learned, with pride, that at the County Teachers Association meeting, held on Saturday, October 28, the Association took official action favoring the continuation of the Ober Law. I want to congratulate the Association for this decisive and forthright action."

Little Declines To Pick Winner

Lou Compares Army And Pennsylvania

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP) — Lou Little, whose Columbia team lost to Army and Penn by identical 34-0 scores, declined today to predict the outcome of the big game Saturday in Philadelphia, but he said:

"You can't pick against Army."

The balding, bespectacled lions' coach compared the Black Knights and the Quakers at the weekly meeting of New York football writers.

"I leaned a little bit toward Penn until I read statistics of the Navy game," he said. "Navy piled up 371 yards on Penn. Giving up yards like that against Army would be disastrous."

Little said Penn had no running back to compare with Al Pollard, the Cadets' piston-legged sophomore from California. At the same time he rated Francis (Reds) Bagnell of Penn a better passer than Army's Bob Blaik.

Little said Columbia contained Army's running attack better than it was able to hold the Penn ground gainers. Also, he declared, the Lions moved the ball better against the Cadets.

"But Penn's passing gave us much more trouble," he added, "and I think this Alan Corbo of Penn is a better straightaway runner than Army's Gil Stephenson."

Horse Show Opens

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—The National Horse Show, one of the highlights of the social season, opens in Madison Square Garden tomorrow with 300 exhibitors from 23 states competing for $31,000 in prize money and hundreds of blue ribbons and trophies.

Jack Grout Tops Golf Qualifiers

North-South Tourney Gets Under Way Today

PINEHURST, N. C., Oct. 30 (AP)—A formidable field of efficient pros and amateurs formed today to chase down Samuel Jackson Snead in the North and South Open Golf Tournament.

Jack Grout, a bespectacled professional playing out of Columbus, Ohio, this year after several seasons at Harrisburgh, Pa., shot a three-under par 69 today to lead the qualifying field.

Grout put together nines of 35-34 to lead the 133-man field by one stroke. Back of him came surprising Bill Goldbeck, pro from Mt. Kisco, N. Y., and Charles C. (Chuck) Klein, San Antonio, Texas, pro, who both posted 33-37—70.

Only three others managed to break par. They were Fairly Clark of Fort Bragg, N. C., 34-37—71; Johnny Weitzel, Harrisburg, Pa., 33-38—71, and Michael Krak, Cleveland, 35-36—71.

Fifty players made the grade with a qualifying limit of 76.

Eighteen-hole rounds for the next four days will decide the $7,500 event, which carries $1,500 top money.

Snead, the year's top money winner from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., automatically fell into the role as favorite. His 274 here last year was only three strokes beyond the tournament record.

Cumberlander May Be Reinstated For Quarterback Job

The Redskins' quarterback may miss next Sunday's game with the New York Giants and could be out even longer.

Mont hails from Cumberland, Md., where he starred at Allegany High School when Herman Ball, present Redskins' mentor, was coach.

in. Slinging Sam has an arm injury and had a horrible time of it when he replaced Gilmer against the Eagles.

If Gilmer can't play next Sunday, the Redskins will seek reinstatement of Tommy Mont as an active player. Mont, former Maryland player who was Baugh's understudy for several seasons, is now an assistant coach. League permission would be required for him to return to active play.

Mont hails from Cumberland, Md., where he starred at Allegany High School when Herman Ball, present Redskins' mentor, was coach.

Jack Grout Tops Golf Qualifiers

North-South Tourney Gets Under Way Today

PINEHURST, N. C., Oct. 30 (AP)—A formidable field of efficient pros and amateurs formed today to chase down Samuel Jackson Snead in the North and South Open Golf Tournament.

Jack Grout, a bespectacled professional playing out of Columbus, Ohio, this year after several seasons at Harrisburgh, Pa., shot a three-under par 69 today to lead the qualifying field.

Grout put together nines of 35-34 to lead the 133-man field by one stroke. Back of him came surprising Bill Goldbeck, pro from Mt. Kisco, N. Y., and Charles C. (Chuck) Klein, San Antonio, Texas, pro, who both posted 33-37—70.

Only three others managed to break par. They were Fairly Clark of Fort Bragg, N. C., 34-37—71; Johnny Weitzel, Harrisburg, Pa., 33-38—71, and Michael Krak, Cleveland, 35-36—71.

Fifty players made the grade with a qualifying limit of 76.

Eighteen-hole rounds for the next four days will decide the $7,500 event, which carries $1,500 top money.

Little Declines To Pick Winner

Lou Compares Army And Pennsylvania

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP) — Lou Little, whose Columbia team lost to Army and Penn by identical 34-0 scores, declined today to predict the outcome of the big game Saturday in Philadelphia, but he said:

"You can't pick against Army."

The balding, bespectacled lions' coach compared the Black Knights and the Quakers at the weekly meeting of New York football writers.

"I leaned a little bit toward Penn until I read statistics of the Navy game," he said. "Navy piled up 371 yards on Penn. Giving up yards like that against Army would be disastrous."

Little said Penn had no running back to compare with Al Pollard, the Cadets' piston-legged sophomore from California. At the same time he rated Francis (Reds) Bagnell of Penn a better passer than Army's Bob Blaik.

Little said Columbia contained Army's running attack better than it was able to hold the Penn ground gainers. Also, he declared, the Lions moved the ball better against the Cadets.

"But Penn's passing gave us much more trouble," he added, "and I think this Alan Corbo of Penn is a better straightaway runner than Army's Gil Stephenson."

Second went to Bulk-Head with Repose third.

Petitbon, Flood, Gay Expected To Play

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 30. (AP)—Notre Dame's regulars rested today, while the reserves scrimmaged in opening Irish preparations for Saturday's clash with Navy at Cleveland.

The thrice-beaten Irish will try to pull out of a two-game losing streak.

Four Chances Is Disqualified After Victory

Double Nip Named Winner At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 30 (AP)—Four Chances, a 12-1 outsider, was disqualified and placed second after finishing in the featured $3,500 Pundit Purse here today.

P. A. Sullican's Double Nip was named the official winner at $10.80 for two odds after the stewards had viewed films of the six - furlong dash. Four chances had beaten Double Nip to the wire by a nose.

Jockey Ike Bassett, who rode Double Nip, claimed foul against Richard Williams, who handled the reins atop Four Chances. Unaffected by the disqualification was Easy Al, which finished third among the seven starters.

Form followers had backed Binky B. into even-money favoritism and then watched the heavy choice turn in a miserable effort. He succeeded in beating only one horse and was never in contention.

Double Nip and Four Chances battled stride for stride through the home lane. The stewards declared after the race that Four Chances carried Double Nip wide into the stretch.

Bit O' Fate Scores

JAMAICA, L. I., Oct. 30 (AP)—Under a daring ride by apprentice Jack Colaneri, 18 - year - old rider from Troy, N. Y., William Ziegler Jr.'s Bit O' Fate won the Mamaroneck Purse, an allowance test of a mile and a sixteenth before 20,499 fans at Jamaica Race Track today.

The 3-year-old son of Wait A Bit-Quaker Girl threaded his way along a narrow opening on the rail to overhaul the pace-setting Deep Blue and Navy Chief to win by a neck. Deep Blue was another neck to the van of Navy Chief. Bit O' Fate was timed in 1:45.

Favored in the betting, the Ziegler Colt returned mutuels of $5.40, $3.20 and $2.30. Deep Blue paid $4.30 and $2.70 and Navy Chief was $2.50 to show.

Rides Four Winners

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 30 (AP)—Mr. J. M. Lingle's Dauntedid broke on top and never was headed today in winning the featured Framingham Purse six furlongs race before 7,312 at Rockington Park.

Dauntedid hit the wire a length and a half ahead of Harry Dunn's Waterwheel. Another half length off in third was Felix M. Poncelet's Charing Rock.

The winner's time was 1:12 2-5. The payoff was $7.80, $3.60 and $2.80 on Dauntedid; $2.80 and $2.40 on Waterwheel and $2.60 on Charing Rock.

Apprentice Larry Wilson, up on Dauntedid, clicked for three other wins during the afternoon. The Corbin, Ky., boy also won with Oakhurst Farm's Miss Ellaneous, Mrs. J. P. Hall's Stratojet and Mon Torch.

Four Chances Is Disqualified After Victory

Double Nip Named Winner At Laurel

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 30 (AP)—Four Chances, a 12-1 outsider, was disqualified and placed second after finishing in the featured $3,500 Pundit Purse here today.

P. A. Sullican's Double Nip was named the official winner at $10.80 for two odds after the stewards had viewed films of the six - furlong dash. Four chances had beaten Double Nip to the wire by a nose.

Jockey Ike Bassett, who rode Double Nip, claimed foul against Richard Williams, who handled the reins atop Four Chances. Unaffected by the disqualification was Easy Al, which finished third among the seven starters.

Form followers had backed Binky B. into even-money favoritism and then watched the heavy choice turn in a miserable effort. He succeeded in beating only one horse and was never in contention.

Double Nip and Four Chances battled stride for stride through the home lane. The stewards declared after the race that Four Chances carried Double Nip wide into the stretch.

Bit O' Fate Scores

JAMAICA, L. I., Oct. 30 (AP)—Under a daring ride by apprentice Jack Colaneri, 18 - year - old rider from Troy, N. Y., William Ziegler Jr.'s Bit O' Fate won the Mamaroneck Purse, an allowance test of a mile and a sixteenth before 20,499 fans at Jamaica Race Track today.

The 3-year-old son of Wait A Bit-Quaker Girl threaded his way along a narrow opening on the rail to overhaul the pace-setting Deep Blue and Navy Chief to win by a neck. Deep Blue was another neck to the van of Navy Chief. Bit O' Fate was timed in 1:45.

Favored in the betting, the Ziegler Colt returned mutuels of $5.40, $3.20 and $2.30. Deep Blue paid $4.30 and $2.70 and Navy Chief was $2.50 to show.

Rides Four Winners

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 30 (AP)—Mr. J. M. Lingle's Dauntedid broke on top and never was headed today in winning the featured Framingham Purse six furlongs race before 7,312 at Rockington Park.

Dauntedid hit the wire a length and a half ahead of Harry Dunn's Waterwheel. Another half length off in third was Felix M. Poncelet's Charing Rock.

The winner's time was 1:12 2-5. The payoff was $7.80, $3.60 and $2.80 on Dauntedid; $2.80 and $2.40 on Waterwheel and $2.60 on Charing Rock.

Apprentice Larry Wilson, up on Dauntedid, clicked for three other wins during the afternoon. The Corbin, Ky., boy also won with Oakhurst Farm's Miss Ellaneous, Mrs. J. P. Hall's Stratojet and Mon Torch.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30—(INS)—Both Jeanne Crain and the character she played really came alive in "Margie," Ruth McKenny's tender, nostalgic story of high school days. She loved the movie too, and said then she wished she could do another family picture like it.

Jeanne Crain

Well, Jeanne is getting her wish. Darryl Zanuck tells me has has bought Miss McKenny's new book, "The Loud Red Patrick" for her. As in another McKenny story, "My Sister Eileen," there are sisters in this one too, but this time the number is six, all daughters of tempestuous Irishman. Jeanne will play one, and Mitzi Gaynor will be another.

Mitzi is now playing Jeanne's school friend in "Take Care Of My Little Girl."

• — • — •

My friend, Jimmy Stewart, has a hole in his head if he turns this one down. The chance, I mean, to play a young priest who matches his wits with Cary Grant as a crook.

That's the story idea in MGM's "When In Rome," which Clarence Brown will direct and produce in Rome, with Cary making the film after he finishes his 20th Century-Fox assignment.

Clarence stopped off in London two days ago to let Jimmy read the story.

It was Cary, himself, who suggested Jimmy for the priest role, after Brown had talked him into playing the part of the crook who steals the priest's clothes while they both are on their way to Rome for Holy Year.

• — • — •

Lester Sharpe, an actor, makes a good point about the search for new screen faces.

For years Sharpe has played unimportant bits. Last week he got his big chance when Director William Wyler gave him the role of the kindly old tailor in "Carrie" with Laurence Olivier and Jennifer Jones.

The part was short but important, and the studio at first was willing to pay $5,000 for one day's work by a big name star. Wyler, however, decided to let Sharpe try, and the results were fine.

"Actually, people like me can be the 'new faces' the industry is seeking," Sharpe wrote. "We are 'new' because the public never has seen enough of us to remember our appearance, but we also bring to the producer the added advantage of years of movie experience."

Doris Day and Marty Melcher plan to marry March 30 in this home town of North Adams, Massachusetts.

Lucille Bremer, married to Rod Rodriguez, son of the former Mexican president, has arrived in Los Angeles to live until after her second child is born in January.

Susan Cabot, who was in "Tomahawk" at U-I, and her husband, Martin Sacker, interior decorator, are no longer in tune with the world.

Dale Evans Rogers tells me her baby girl is improving so much that she and Roy Rogers are very thankful. The baby had a hard time getting food to agree with her.

Grant Morrow, freckle-faced scene stealer, who stole some of Betty Hutton's spotlight in "Annie Get Your Gun," will be up to his old tricks with Judy Canova in "Honey Chile."

Larry Keethe and Jean Seintuck, both of the M-G-M wardrobe department, are scheduled to march up the aisle next month. Spencer Tracy, Keethe's close friend of 15 years, will be his best man.

Diana Lynn was offered an important Broadway show, but she didn't want to leave her husband, John Lindsay. Maybe she's got something there.

Norman Reilly Raine says he hasn't sold his "Tugboat Annie" series to Paramount, but promises to advise me when he does—which means, I suppose, that the deal has not been consummated. Raine says he has had several TV offers for his stories.

The lyrics of the song, "I Want To Love You And Go Home With You," with which Marilyn Maxwell is charming GIs on her current tour with Bob Hope, were written by Marilyn, herself. Les Brown whipped up the music.

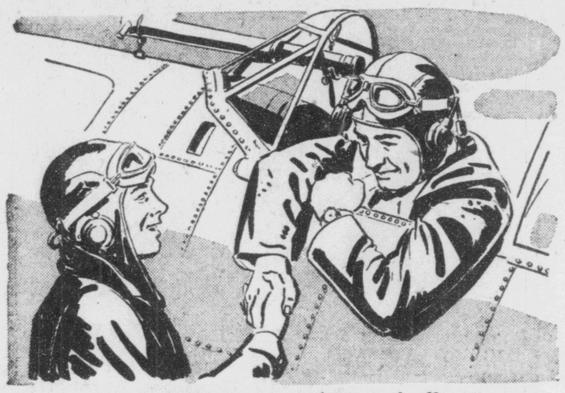
David Niven has written a book, "The Rugged Rocks," which will be published in the spring by Prentice-Hall. Question around town is whether David's story of a dashing young man who finds himself broke in New York is autobiographical? Such was his own case at one time.

Bill Dozier and Marguerite Chapman dined at the Brown Derby before they saw the Sadler's Wells Ballet together.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist



Does pilot training make men deaf?

Answer: Not lastingly in most cases, reports Dr. B. H. Senturia in The Military Surgeon. A considerable percentage of men show some temporary loss of hearing as a result of prolonged subjection to airplane noises, but this as a rule is partially or wholly restored after a twenty-four-nour rest period. The prediction that large numbers of flying personnel would be permanently deafened as a result of their experiences in World War II proved to be unfounded—by now, most of them can hear as well as ever.

Would a psychiatrist "laugh at you"?

Answer: Not before he knew that you were ready to laugh at yourself. There is an advanced stage of psychiatric treatment in which the patient begins to realize the absurdity of some of his fears—or efforts to escape reality—and in which it may be useful for him to feel that the doctor sees them in the same light. But no adequately trained psychiatrist would see your problems in themselves as funny, no matter how little realistic basis they have. He knows too well how much suffering they cause you and how helpless you are to deal with them.

Are some people introverts by nature?

Answer: Only in the sense that some appear to be more easily discouraged. The tendency to find your main satisfaction in your own thoughts and dreams rather than in action and in contacts with your friends and neighbors originates in the failure of your first childish attempts to get what you wanted from people and things around you. Introversion is thus a "defeatist" attitude, even though you may not realize it. But do not forget that extraversion can be equally neurotic when employed as an escape from emotional problems.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30—(INS)—Both Jeanne Crain and the character she played really came alive in "Margie," Ruth McKenny's tender, nostalgic story of high school days. She loved the movie too, and said then she wished she could do another family picture like it.

Jeanne Crain

Well, Jeanne is getting her wish. Darryl Zanuck tells me has has bought Miss McKenny's new book, "The Loud Red Patrick" for her. As in another McKenny story, "My Sister Eileen," there are sisters in this one too, but this time the number is six, all daughters of tempestuous Irishman. Jeanne will play one, and Mitzi Gaynor will be another.

Mitzi is now playing Jeanne's school friend in "Take Care Of My Little Girl."

My friend, Jimmy Stewart, has a hole in his head if he turns this one down. The chance, I mean, to play a young priest who matches his wits with Cary Grant as a crook.

That's the story idea in MGM's "When In Rome," which Clarence Brown will direct and produce in Rome, with Cary making the film after he finishes his 20th Century-Fox assignment.

Clarence stopped off in London two days ago to let Jimmy read the story.

It was Cary, himself, who suggested Jimmy for the priest role, after Brown had talked him into playing the part of the crook who steals the priest's clothes while they both are on their way to Rome for Holy Year.

Lester Sharpe, an actor, makes a good point about the search for new screen faces.

For years Sharpe has played unimportant bits. Last week he got his big chance when Director William Wyler gave him the role of the kindly old tailor in "Carrie" with Laurence Olivier and Jennifer Jones.

The part was short but important, and the studio at first was willing to pay $5,000 for one day's work by a big name star. Wyler, however, decided to let Sharpe try, and the results were fine.

"Actually, people like me can be the 'new faces' the industry is seeking," Sharpe wrote. "We are 'new' because the public never has seen enough of us to remember our appearance, but we also bring to the producer the added advantage of years of movie experience."

Doris Day and Marty Melcher plan to marry March 30 in his home town of North Adams, Massachusetts.

Lucille Bremer, married to Rod Rodriguez, son of the former Mexican president, has arrived in Los Angeles to live until after her second child is born in January.

Susan Cabot, who was in "Tomahawk" at U-I, and her husband, Martin Sacker, interior decorator, are no longer in tune with the world.

Dale Evans Rogers tells me her baby girl is improving so much that she and Roy Rogers are very thankful. The baby had a hard time getting food to agree with her.

Grant Morrow, freckle-faced scene stealer, who stole some of Betty Hutton's spotlight in "Annie Get Your Gun," will be up to his old tricks with Judy Canova in "Honey Chile."

Larry Keethe and Jean Seintuck, both of the M-G-M wardrobe department, are scheduled to march up the aisle next month. Spencer Tracy, Keethe's close friend of 15 years, will be his best man.

Diana Lynn was offered an important Broadway show, but she didn't want to leave her husband, John Lindsay. Maybe she's got something there.

Norman Reilly Raine says he hasn't sold his "Tugboat Annie" series to Paramount, but promises to advise me when he does—which means, I suppose, that the deal has not been consummated. Raine says he has had several TV offers for his stories.

The lyrics of the song, "I Want To Love You And Go Home With You," with which Marilyn Maxwell is charming GIs on her current tour with Bob Hope, were written by Marilyn, herself. Les Brown whipped up the music.

David Niven has written a book, "The Rugged Rocks," which will be published in the spring by Prentice-Hall. Question around town is whether David's story of a dashing young man who finds himself broke in New York is autobiographical? Such was his own case at one time.

Bill Dozier and Marguerite Chapman dined at the Brown Derby before they saw the Sadler's Wells Ballet together.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does pilot training make men deaf?

Answer: Not lastingly in most cases, reports Dr. B. H. Senturia in The Military Surgeon. A considerable percentage of men show some temporary loss of hearing as a result of prolonged subjection to airplane noises, but this as a rule is partially or wholly restored after a twenty-four-nour rest period. The prediction that large numbers of flying personnel would be permanently deafened as a result of their experiences in World War II proved to be unfounded—by now, most of them can hear as well as ever.

Would a psychiatrist "laugh at you"?

Answer: Not before he knew that you were ready to laugh at yourself. There is an advanced stage of psychiatric treatment in which the patient begins to realize the absurdity of some of his fears—or efforts to escape reality—and in which it may be useful for him to feel that the doctor sees them in the same light. But no adequately trained psychiatrist would see your problems in themselves as funny, no matter how little realistic basis they have. He knows too well how much suffering they cause you and how helpless you are to deal with them.

Are some people introverts by nature?

Answer: Only in the sense that some appear to be more easily discouraged. The tendency to find your main satisfaction in your own thoughts and dreams rather than in action and in contacts with your friends and neighbors originates in the failure of your first childish attempts to get what you wanted from people and things around you. Introversion is thus a "defeatist" attitude, even though you may not realize it. But do not forget that extraversion can be equally neurotic when employed as an escape from emotional problems.

NEW YORK (INS—CONSIDERABLE force seems to be lining up in support of a proposal, hardly new, outlined in a book by Boris Shub named "The Choice." Shub proposes that we attempt to overthrow Stalin and his Politburo by means of dissident Russians.

Shub soldiered along the Elbe at a time when Russians and GIs were embracing one another, and their respecitve officers were finding considerable kinship in Vodka. He thinks a lot of the men are still inherently friendly.

Shub is something of an authority. He ghosted for the Soviet deviationist Gen. Walter G. Krivitsky, and prepared material used in the Nuremberg trials. Since then, he has been political adviser to the American-operated radio station "Rias" which is located just inside the Russian sector of Berlin.

He believes we can unseat the Soviet Union rulers and disarm the MVD which holds the people in line by making the proper kind of promises to anit-Communist elements within the U.S.S.R. He swears that from observation he has found a sufficient disgruntlement to warrant optimism, and his proposition has been endorsed by such figures as Gen. John R. Deane, chief of wartime lend-lease in Moscow; Charles P. Taft, of the World Council of Churches; former U. S. Ambassador to Moscow Bill Bullitt; Norman Thomas, A. A. Berle, and others.

• — • — •

For examples of what he calls "the serious disaffection" within Russian ranks, Shub quotes disgruntled complaints made to him by Yuri Korolkov, Berlin correspondent of Pravda, and Boris Gorbatov, a Stalin prize winner; assorted officers and men of the Red army, pro-consuls who have had a chance to kick up their heels outside of the iron curtain, and many other less-than-loyalists.

Shub wants Mr. Truman to issue a proclamation promising U. S. support of any or all Russians who will rise up to overthrow the Stalin crowd. But just how we would send aid to Russian insurrectionists before they were pounced on by the MVD, or turned in by their own frightened families, is not made clear.

This country failed notably in two previous attempts to lob a fast one over the heads of enemy governments. We had good teams of cajolers, too, even unto Bing Crosby—crooning to the Krauts—and (very nearly) Babe Ruth urging his millions of baseball minded followers in Japan to chuck Tojo. It's not an easy thing to sell when there's somebody with a gun or a thumbscrew hovering over the prospective customer.

It could be different in Russia, possibly. It is a fact that the Red army produced more deserters than any other army involved in World War Two.

But the Ukranians were emboldened by something more concrete than news of a proclamation in a distant land, and the deserters were lured to the other side by the immediate prospect of at least dying under better fighting conditions.

Shub insists, however, that the only alternative to a determined wooing of the Russian people now is world war three.

• — • — •

As Winston Churchill's memoirs unravel it becomes abundantly clear that for absolute power he stood head and shoulders above any other leader in World War Two.

Mr. Roosevelt had merchandise, but Winnie had FDR securely in his pocket. From the memoris to date we see that it was Churchill who caused the U. S. to drop its neutrality (via lend-lease, the 50 destroyer deal, support of convoys by pre-Pearl Harbor navy); who talked Gen. Marshall out of the first Sherman tanks; who directed that the war in Europe be presecuted on a grand scale while the war in the Pacific was relegated to the minor leagues; who stopped the Marshall-Roosevelt plan to open a second front in France in 1942; who stimulated the $2-billion A-bomb effort; who planned the invasion of North Africa; who moved U. S. warships out of the Pacific for service in the Atlantic; who decided that Americans rather than British would bear the brunt of subsequent invasions; who nominated Gen. Eisenhower and Mark Clark for their historic posts.

This is not to say that Churchill was an inept Joe at the mighty jobs he was given, or appropriated by dint of overwhelming personality. This is merely to say that his memoirs show that he, rather than we, ran the show in which we apparently had the leading role. This is also to say that Churchill probably is the last English statesman who will wield vast power over this country. Could you conceive mild mannered Clement Attlee exercising as much influence over the ruggedly independent Mr. Truman—especially since Margaret made a hit on television?

S. to drop its neutrality (via lend-lease, the 50 destroyer deal, support of convoys by pre-Pearl Harbor navy); who talked Gen. Marshall out of the first Sherman tanks; who directed that the war in Europe be presecuted on a grand scale while the war in the Pacific was relegated to the minor leagues; who stopped the Marshall-Roosevelt plan to open a second front in France in 1942; who stimulated the $2-billion A-bomb effort; who planned the invasion of North Africa; who moved U. S. warships out of the Pacific for service in the Atlantic; who decided that Americans rather than British would bear the brunt of subsequent invasions; who nominated Gen. Eisenhower and Mark Clark for their historic posts.

This is not to say that Churchill was an inept Joe at the mighty jobs he was given, or appropriated by dint of overwhelming personality. This is merely to say that his memoirs show that he, rather than we, ran the show in which we apparently had the leading role. This is also to say that Churchill probably is the last English statesman who will wield vast power over this country. Could you conceive mild mannered Clement Attlee exercising as much influence over the ruggedly independent Mr. Truman—especially since Margaret made a hit on television?

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in the death of husband and father, John B. Delawder. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, the flower bearers, the choir and those who donated their cars.

In Memoriam

In memory of William L. McFarland, who passed away two years ago, October 30th, 1948.
Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies,
He lives in a land of glory
With the blue and the gold of the skies.
And we, who have known and have loved him,
Whose passing has brought us sad tears,
Will carry his memory always
To brighten the drifting years.
Wife and Family

In memory of our beloved one, Mrs. Melvina Sires Filer, who passed away one year ago today, October 31, 1949.
Always so true, unselfish and kind,
In this world so few you find,
A beautiful life that came to an end,
She died as she lived, everyone's friend,
Beautiful memories of her smiling face,
A broken link no one can replace,
What ever else we fail to do, dear "Melvina"
We'll never fail to think of you.
Sadly missed by her Husband and Son, William and Walter Filer; her Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. George Sires; Sister and Brother and Family, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wright.

In loving memory of our dear dad, Andrew Staup, who departed this life, one year ago today, October 31, 1949.
Gone is the soul that we have loved,
A father who has done his work,
A dad who was loved by all;
Nor from his duties did he shirk,
But on and on he forged ahead.
Until his work on earth was done,
And now he sits among the blest,
Beside the Christ, The Father's son,
We will not pause to shed a tear,
For we shall meet him over there,
Where greater duties are performed,
In cloudless lands where all is fair.
Sadly missed by His Children

In loving memory of my husband, Andrew Staup, who passed away one year ago, October 31, 1949.
I saw you fading like a flower
But could not make you stay,
I nursed you with tender kindness
Until God called you away,
And my heart aches for you still,
Forgotten by some others,
But by me you never will.
Sadly missed by his wife,
Nellie B. Staup

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in the death of husband and father, John B. Delawder. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, the flower bearers, the choir and those who donated their cars.

In Memoriam

In memory of William L. McFarland, who passed away two years ago, October 30th, 1948.
Somewhere back of the sunset
Where loveliness never dies,
He lives in a land of glory
With the blue and the gold of the skies.
And we, who have known and have loved him,
Whose passing has brought us sad tears,
Will carry his memory always
To brighten the drifting years.
Wife and Family

In memory of our beloved one, Mrs. Melvina Sires Filer, who passed away one year ago today, October 31, 1949.
Always so true, unselfish and kind,
In this world so few you find,
A beautiful life that came to an end,
She died as she lived, everyone's friend,
Beautiful memories of her smiling face,
A broken link no one can replace,
What ever else we fail to do, dear "Melvina"
We'll never fail to think of you.
Sadly missed by her Husband and Son, William and Walter Filer; her Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. George Sires; Sister and Brother and Family, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Wright.

In loving memory of our dear dad, Andrew Staup, who departed this life, one year ago today, October 31, 1949.
Gone is the soul that we have loved,
A father who has done his work,
A dad who was loved by all;
Nor from his duties did he shirk,
But on and on he forged ahead,
Until his work on earth was done,
And now he sits among the blest,
Beside the Christ, The Father's son,
We will not pause to shed a tear,
For we shall meet him over there,
Where greater duties are performed,
In cloudless lands where all is fair.
Sadly missed by His Children

In loving memory of my husband, Andrew Staup, who passed away one year ago, October 31, 1949.
I saw you fading like a flower
But could not make you stay,
I nursed you with tender kindness
Until God called you away,
And my heart aches for you still,
Forgotten by some others,
But by me you never will.
Sadly missed by his wife,
Nellie B. Staup

Stock Prices Are Tumbled By Late Storm Of Selling

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—A decline in stock prices suddenly picked up speed in the final hour of today's market and brought final losses ranging to more than $2 a share.

The storm of selling swept over the list with such intensity that the ticker tape ran behind floor transactions for a brief time.

Principal targets were steels, railroads, and selected motors and oils.

Despite a slight comeback just at the close, declines outnumbered advances by a wide margin, 715 to 216, among the 1,166 issues traded. Of the 15 most active stocks, 14 lost ground.

The activity of the last hour lifted total transactions for the day to 1,790,000 shares compared with 1,800,000 last Friday in the preceding full session.

Among active steel shares, Bethlehem was down 1⅛ at 46⅝, Republic 1¼ at 41¾ and Jones & Laughlin 1¼ at 42⅜.

Declaration of a $1.75 dividend, against $1.25 in the preceding quarter, failed to drop Standard Oil (N. J.) which closed 1¼ lower at 84⅝. Radio Corp. finished the day down ⅛ at 17⅜.

Losses among the railroad issues included Nickel Plate 2½ at 167, Union Pacific 1½ at 95 and Santa Fe 1¾ at 125¾.

Elsewhere, stocks marked down included J. I. Case (off 2⅛), Motorola (down 2⅛), Philco, Admiral, Zenith Radio, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Johns-Manville, American Woolen, Anaconda Copper, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Schenley, Allied Chemical, Gulf Oil and Sinclair.

Stocks holding gains for the day included Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Textron and Dome Mines.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

"THE DUCK" IMPORTANT IN GAMES

among average players, you seldom see use made of the simple play known as "the duck." There is nothing fancy about it. It consists merely of letting the opponents have an early trick in a suit, so that you can take the later ones and thereby wind up scoring tricks with established low cards. Its value is important, if not indispensible, when you have a dearth of entries into the holding which contains the greater length of the suit.

	♠ A 6 5 ♥ A K 6 5 4 ♦ 9 6 3 ♣ 8 4
♠ 9 7 ♥ Q J 8 ♦ K 10 7 ♣ K Q J 5	N W E S	♠ J 3 2 ♥ 10 2 ♦ J 8 5 ♣ 10 9 6 3 2
	♠ K Q 10 8 4 ♥ 9 7 3 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ A 7

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass

South said after the deal that his reason for forcing with a spade jump rebid instead of going to 4-Hearts after North's rebid was to prevent a lead through his diamond tenace. Then he proved his lack of appreciation of that factor.

After his club A won the K lead and he scored the spade K, A and Q, he led to the heart K and tried the diamond finesse, losing to the K. West scored his club J and returned the diamond 4 to the J and A. Now South had to lose another trick in diamonds and one in hearts to be down one.

The proper prescription for this contract was "the duck." After taking out trumps, South should have led a heart and let the defense win it—either defender. The winner could then have scored a club trick, but thereafter South would have been ready to win any return. Following it with a lead to the heart A and K, he would have set up two winning low hearts, on which he could have parked his diamond Q and 2.

Playing that way, South would have made an extra trick, losing only one in hearts and one in clubs. Notice that, if the hearts had divided badly, South could still have tried the diamond finesse late in the play. Trying it early, at the expense of not establishing the hearts with the duck, was definitely bad bridge, but of a kind often seen.

How should South play for 3-No Trumps after West leads the spade 9, if neither defender had bid?

Stock Prices Are Tumbled By Late Storm Of Selling

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—A decline in stock prices suddenly picked up speed in the final hour of today's market and brought final losses ranging to more than $2 a share.

The storm of selling swept over the list with such intensity that the ticker tape ran behind floor transactions for a brief time.

Principal targets were steels, railroads, and selected motors and oils.

Despite a slight comeback just at the close, declines outnumbered advances by a wide margin, 715 to 216, among the 1,166 issues traded. Of the 15 most active stocks, 14 lost ground.

The activity of the last hour lifted total transactions for the day to 1,790,000 shares compared with 1,800,000 last Friday in the preceding full session.

Leading the most active list was its only gainer, the low-priced Graham-Paige, head ⅛ at 2⅞.

Among active steel shares, Bethlehem was down 1⅛ at 46⅝, Republic 1¼ at 41¾ and Jones & Laughlin 1¼ at 42⅜.

Declaration of a $1.75 dividend, against $1.25 in the preceding quarter, failed to drop Standard Oil (N. J.) which closed 1¼ lower at 84⅝. Radio Corp. finished the day down ⅛ at 17⅜.

Losses among the railroad issues included Nickel Plate 2½ at 167, Union Pacific 1½ at 95 and Santa Fe 1¾ at 125¾.

Elsewhere, stocks marked down included J. I. Case (off 2⅛), Motorola (down 2⅛), Philco, Admiral, Zenith Radio, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Johns-Manville, American Woolen, Anaconda Copper, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Schenley, Allied Chemical, Gulf Oil and Sinclair.

Stocks holding gains for the day included Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Textron and Dome Mines.

By Shepard Barclay

"THE DUCK" IMPORTANT IN GAMES

among average players, you seldom see use made of the simple play known as "the duck." There is nothing fancy about it. It consists merely of letting the opponents have an early trick in a suit, so that you can take the later ones and thereby wind up scoring tricks with established low cards. Its value is important, if not indispensible, when you have a dearth of entries into the holding which contains the greater length of the suit.

	♠ A 6 5 ♥ A K 6 5 4 ♦ 9 6 3 ♣ 8 4
♠ 9 7 ♥ Q J 8 ♦ K 10 7 4 ♣ K Q J 5	N W E S	♠ J 3 2 ♥ 10 2 ♦ J 8 5 ♣ 10 9 6 3 2
	♠ K Q 10 8 4 ♥ 9 7 3 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ A 7

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass

South said after the deal that his reason for forcing with a spade jump rebid instead of going to 4-Hearts after North's rebid was to prevent a lead through his diamond tenace. Then he proved his lack of appreciation of that factor.

After his club A won the K lead and he scored the spade K, A and Q, he led to the heart K and tried the diamond finesse, losing to the K. West scored his club J and returned the diamond 4 to the J and A. Now South had to lose another trick in diamonds and one in hearts to be down one.

The proper prescription for this contract was "the duck." After taking out trumps, South should have led a heart and let the defense win it—either defender. The winner could then have scored a club trick, but thereafter South would have been ready to win any return. Following it with a lead to the heart A and K, he would have set up two winning low hearts, on which he could have parked his diamond Q and 2.

Playing that way, South would have made an extra trick, losing only one in hearts and one in clubs. Notice that, if the hearts had divided badly, South could still have tried the diamond finesse late in the play. Trying it early, at the expense of not establishing the hearts with the duck, was definitely bad bridge, but of a kind often seen.

Tomorrow's Problem

How should South play for 3-No Trumps after West leads the spade 9, if neither defender had bid?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Stock Prices Are Tumbled By Late Storm Of Selling

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—A decline in stock prices suddenly picked up speed in the final hour of today's market and brought final losses ranging to more than $2 a share.

The storm of selling swept over the list with such intensity that the ticker tape ran behind floor transactions for a brief time.

Principal targets were steels, railroads, and selected motors and oils.

Despite a slight comeback just at the close, declines outnumbered advances by a wide margin, 715 to 216, among the 1,166 issues traded. Of the 15 most active stocks, 14 lost ground.

The activity of the last hour lifted total transactions for the day to 1,790,000 shares compared with 1,-800,000 last Friday in the preceding full session.

Among active steel shares, Bethlehem was down 1⅛ at 46⅝, Republic 1¼ at 41¾ and Jones & Laughlin 1¼ at 42⅜.

Declaration of a $1.75 dividend, against $1.25 in the preceding quarter, failed to drop Standard Oil (N. J.) which closed 1¼ lower at 84⅝. Radio Corp. finished the day down ⅛ at 17⅜.

Losses among the railroad issues included Nickel Plate 2½ at 167, Union Pacific 1½ at 95 and Santa Fe 1¾ at 125¾.

Elsewhere, stocks marked down included J. I. Case (off 2⅛), Motorola (down 2⅛), Philco, Admiral, Zenith Radio, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Johns-Manville, American Woolen, Anaconda Copper, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Schenley, Allied Chemical, Gulf Oil and Sinclair.

Stocks holding gains for the day included Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Textron and Dome Mines.

By Shepard Barclay

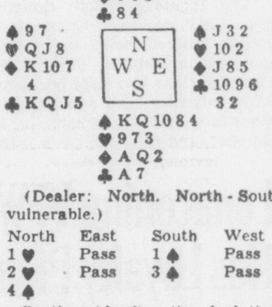
"THE DUCK" IMPORTANT IN GAMES

among average players, you seldom see use made of the simple play known as "the duck." There is nothing fancy about it. It consists merely of letting the opponents have an early trick in a suit, so that you can take the later ones and thereby wind up scoring tricks with established low cards. Its value is important, if not indispensible, when you have a dearth of entries into the holding which contains the greater length of the suit.



(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass

South said after the deal that his reason for forcing with a spade jump rebid instead of going to 4-Hearts after North's rebid was to prevent a lead through his diamond tenace. Then he proved his lack of appreciation of that factor.

After his club A won the K lead and he scored the spade K, A and Q, he led to the heart K and tried the diamond finesse, losing to the K. West scored his club J and returned the diamond 4 to the J and A. Now South had to lose another trick in diamonds and one in hearts to be down one.

The proper prescription for this contract was "the duck." After taking out trumps, South should have led a heart and let the defense win it—either defender. The winner could then have scored a club trick, but thereafter South would have been ready to win any return. Following it with a lead to the heart A and K, he would have set up two winning low hearts, on which he could have parked his diamond Q and 2.

Playing that way, South would have made an extra trick, losing only one in hearts and one in clubs. Notice that, if the hearts had divided badly, South could still have tried the diamond finesse late in the play. Trying it early, at the expense of not establishing the hearts with the duck, was definitely bad bridge, but of a kind often seen.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

How should South play for 3-No Trumps after West leads the spade 9, if neither defender had bid?

Stock Prices Are Tumbled By Late Storm Of Selling

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—A decline in stock prices suddenly picked up speed in the final hour of today's market and brought final losses ranging to more than $2 a share.

The storm of selling swept over the list with such intensity that the ticker tape ran behind floor transactions for a brief time.

Principal targets were steels, railroads, and selected motors and oils.

Despite a slight comeback just at the close, declines outnumbered advances by a wide margin, 715 to 216, among the 1,166 issues traded. Of the 15 most active stocks, 14 lost ground.

The activity of the last hour lifted total transactions for the day to 1,790,000 shares compared with 1,-800,000 last Friday in the preceding full session.

Leading the most active list was its only gainer, the low-priced Graham-Paige, head ⅛ at 2⅞.

Among active steel shares, Bethlehem was down 1⅛ at 46⅝, Republic 1¼ at 41¾ and Jones & Laughlin 1¼ at 42⅜.

Declaration of a $1.75 dividend, against $1.25 in the preceding quarter, failed to drop Standard Oil (N. J.) which closed 1¼ lower at 84⅝. Radio Corp. finished the day down ⅛ at 17⅜.

Losses among the railroad issues included Nickel Plate 2½ at 167, Union Pacific 1½ at 95 and Santa Fe 1¾ at 125¾.

Elsewhere, stocks marked down included J. I. Case (off 2⅛), Motorola (down 2⅛), Philco, Admiral, Zenith Radio, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Johns-Manville, American Woolen, Anaconda Copper, International Te'ephone, Montgomery Ward, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Schenley, Allied Chemical, Gulf Oil and Sinclair.

Stocks holding gains for the day included Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Textron and Dome Mines.

By Shepard Barclay

"THE DUCK" IMPORTANT IN GAMES

among average players, you seldom see use made of the simple play known as "the duck." There is nothing fancy about it. It consists merely of letting the opponents have an early trick in a suit, so that you can take the later ones and thereby wind up scoring tricks with established low cards. Its value is important, if not indispensible, when you have a dearth of entries into the holding which contains the greater length of the suit.

♠ 9 7 ♥ Q J 8 ♦ K 10 7 ♣ 4	N W E S	♠ J 3 2 ♥ 10 2 ♦ J 8 5 ♣ 10 9 6 3 2
	♠ K Q 10 8 4 ♥ 9 7 3 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ A 7

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

South said after the deal that his reason for forcing with a spade jump rebid instead of going to 4-Hearts after North's rebid was to prevent a lead through his diamond tenace. Then he proved his lack of appreciation of that factor.

After his club A won the K lead and he scored the spade K, A and Q, he led to the heart K and tried the diamond finesse, losing to the K. West scored his club J and returned the diamond 4 to the J and A. Now South had to lose another trick in diamonds and one in hearts to be down one.

The proper prescription for this contract was "the duck." After taking out trumps, South should have led a heart and let the defense win it—either defender. The winner could then have scored a club trick, but thereafter South would have been ready to win any return. Following it with a lead to the heart A and K, he would have set up two winning low hearts, on which he could have parked his diamond Q and 2.

Playing that way, South would have made an extra trick, losing only one in hearts and one in clubs. Notice that, if the hearts had divided badly, South could still have tried the diamond finesse late in the play. Trying it early, at the expense of not establishing the hearts with the duck, was definitely bad bridge, but of a kind often seen.

GOP Candidate Pledges Adequate Facilities For Miners Hospital

Support for a $1,995,000 expansion program for Frostburg State Teachers College and adequate funds for the expansion of Miners Hospital were promised here yesterday by Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican gubernatorial candidate.

McKeldin and Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican candidate for re-election to Congress from Maryland's Sixth district, yesterday conferred with Miss Lillian C. Compton and the faculty of the college.

McKeldin promised, on the basis of needs of the educational institution, to provide a $292,000 woman's dormitory for a total building program costing $1,995,000.

Has Been Neglected

Frostburg State Teachers College, he said, has been doing a magnificent job with facilities which have been provided, but it has been neglected too long.

He termed the college library, where the conference was held, completely inadequate for such an institution.

The complete program for the college, as endorsed by the GOP candidate, includes $40,000 for equipment for a new science building, $400,000 for a library and administration building, $412,000 for a gymnasium and union building, $337,000 for an auditorium and music department, a $222,000 dining hall, a $292,000 men's dormitory and the women's dormitory.

Ignored Vital Need

"You know what happened to this promise, just like all the rest of Mr. Lane's promises. At one session of the Legislature after another in the past four years, Mr. Lane absolutely refused to provide the necessary funds for the Miners Hospital addition. He completely ignored the fact that it was and is a vital need.

"What Mr. Lane has failed to do I can and will do promptly upon election, so the facilities of Miners Hospital will be adequate and fully satisfactory to the community."

McKeldin said the Governor had promised to provide additional class room and dormitory space for Frostburg State Teachers College.

"Today the college has over 500 students living and working in exactly the same space which served the needs of 150 students five years ago," he continued. "Not one additional class room, not one inch of dormitory space has been added by Mr. Lane, despite his promise of four years ago.

"Under my administration, these needs will be met promptly. I will not tolerate further delay and neglect of this necessary arm of our state teachers college system."

Recalling widespread unemployment last year in Western Maryland, McKeldin said Governor Lane after "five months of inaction" proposed an appropriation to provide temporary relief.

"But I know the people here, as elsewhere do not want relief or charity," declared McKeldin. "They want a fair opportunity to earn their own living."

Beall Says GOP Offers Return To Fiscal Sanity

Cites Huge Mortgage On County's Future

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican candidate for Congress, charged yesterday the federal government has placed a mortgage of $169,420,000,000 on the future of Allegany county and said the election of a Republican Congress is the only way to guarantee a return to fiscal sanity.

In a speech at a GOP rally in the Firemen's Armory in Barton last night, Rep. Beall charged that the national debt is now $257,000,000,000, which amounts to about $1,720 for every man, woman and child in the country. Allegany county's share of the debt on a population basis, according to Rep. Beall, is $169,420,000.

'The Truman Administration is plunging the county more deeply into debt every day," the Republican candidate added. "By persisting in its wild spending and waste even in war time, the administration is destroying all hope of economic security. Already the people are caught helplessly between soaring prices and soaring taxes. But an even more tragic day of reckoning will come when the national debt must be paid off. Then the people will be reduced to paupers."

Rep. Beall said that before the recent tax increase, the average American was paying 25 per cent of his earnings to the tax collector. Now the percentage is much higher. He continued:

"Despite these crippling taxes, the government probably will have an annual deficit of around $10,000,000,000 when the rearmament program is fully underway. Yet President Truman has not withdrawn a single one of his mammoth spending programs that are really aimed at socializing America. He still wants Congress to enact socialized medicine, the Brannon Plan and a score of other measures that could double the tax load.

"The Republican 80th Congress, Rep. Beall declared, balanced the budget, lowered taxes, and reduced the national debt by $7,000,000,000. That Congress also kept our armed forces mightier than ever before in peacetime. The Republicans did the job once, and they can do it again."

Lonaconing VFW Has Loyalty Plan

Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Lonaconing, has arranged for a community rally for the signing of loyalty pledges, and will actively support the Ober Bill amendment on the ballots November 7, according to Post Commander Charles Cave.

Arrangements have been made for all residents of Lonaconing to sign loyalty pledges Friday and Saturday. "Lefty" Grove's storeroom on Main Street, next to the Republican Club, has been set aside as headquarters.

The place will be open Friday from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 p. m. until 4 p. m. and on Saturday from 10 a. m. to noon and 1 to 3 p. m.

On Wednesday, November 8, from 7 p. m. until 11 p. m. all post members and others interested can sign at the post home.

Commander Cave said post members will hand out sample ballots on election day in support of the Ober law and also will have several cars to haul voters to the polls.

Kiwanians To Hear Social Security Talk

James Getty, local manager of the Social Security office, will discuss "The New Social Security Law" at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club on Thursday at Central YMCA.

Another feature of the meeting will be election of a president, vice president and treasurer.

Michigan Sewer Problem Aired

The new Michigan Avenue sewer will be a project for the coming winter season in the work schedule of the Street Department, Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said last night.

Work cannot get underway before cold weather because seasonal projects for the autumn period are now being done, she said.

Mrs. Roeder's comments came in reply to R. S. Pomeroy, who appeared before the Mayor and Council regarding a sewer problem.

Pomeroy said he is building a new home at the corner of Michigan Avenue and Massachusetts Avenue. He asked whether the new sewer could be constructed earlier, explaining that the old sewer on which he has already paid frontage does not provide adequate cellar drainage.

The city is not required to guarantee cellar drainage, according to the city code, Mrs. Roeder said.

She recalled that Pomeroy was informed at the time he paid for frontage and his tappage fee that he would have to raise the house in order to have cellar drainage, but that Pomeroy decided against that for reasons of appearance.

City Attorney W. Earle Cobey commented that Pomeroy could wait until winter and tap on to the new line, but Pomeroy said he had planned to occupy the new home by December.

Heavy Fines Possible For False Alarms

Halloween pranksters who think it might be fun to pull fire alarm boxes may find themselves in court, Assistant Fire Chief W. L. Lindner has warned.

Several false alarms, attributed to pranksters, have forced Cumberland firemen to make dangerous and unnecessary trips, Lindner added. Those caught sending false alarms will be subject to heavy fines.

Confer On College Expansion Plan

Mt. Savage Man Injured In Mishap

A 43-year-old Mt. Savage man was slightly injured yesterday when he was hit by a truck while he was walking along a roadway near Castle Hill, Mt. Savage.

Attaches at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, identified him as Lewis Martin, an employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and said that he would be X-rayed today for possible fractures of his left foot.

Keyser Youth Shot In Legs While Hunting

Glen Dawson Hurt Near Reeses Mills

An 18-year-old high school senior, Glen Dawson, of RFD No. 2, Keyser, W. Va., is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, suffering from a bullet wound in both legs.

Dawson was shot in the upper part of the left leg, the bullet passing through and lodging in the upper portions of the right leg.

According to State Conservation Officer Claude Rice of Keyser, who talked with Dawson at the hospital, the young man claims he was accidently shot by a companion, Ronald Patterson, also about 18, of RFD No. 1, Keyser, Sunday afternoon in the Reeses Mills area.

Dawson told the officer, upon questioning, that he and his companion had gone into the woods earlier Sunday to hunt foxes. Dawson said he shot at a groundhog, but had trouble with the .22 calibre rifle he was carrying and traded with Patterson who was carrying a .32 calibre rifle.

Early Sunday afternoon, the youth said, he was accidentally shot with the .22 calibre rifle.

Officer Rice said he was especially interested in the case for a number of reasons.

He explained that he had returned Sunday from the Reeses Mills area after spending the night searching for a lost hunter who turned up safe, and did not hear about the shooting until yesterday afternoon.

After checking with state and local police, he learned that the shooting had not been reported to either. Then he went to the hospital and found that Dawson had been admitted there.

Rice said the shooting occurred in the same general area where Stanley Urice was fatally shot with a .25 calibre special about three weeks ago by an unknown party.

He also explained that he was disturbed about the rumor that another man had been shot there, especially after he and others had just been over the area searching for the lost hunter.

Rice said the Dawson shooting did not occur until Sunday afternoon, but when he first learned about it, he did not know when it had happened.

Lucile Cummings To Sing In 1950 Messiah Concert

Miss Lucile Cummings, well known contralto, will be one of four soloists in the Cumberland Choral Society's presentation of "The Messiah" at Fort Hill High School auditorium December 14 at 8:30 p. m.

Miss Cummings, one of the popular singing stars on The Telephone Hour, presented a concert here last May under the auspices of the Choral Society.

Jack Platt, director, said the tenor and bass soloists will be selected within a week.

"The Messiah" was first presented by the Choral Society here in 1939 and has been presented each year, with performances by various church choirs during the war years when the society was inactive.

The Choral Society's 75 members will be augmented by about 25 area singers to bring the chorus to 100, which Platt said is needed for an adequate performance.

The concert, which will last for an hour and 45 minutes, is free and open to the public.

Many of the members of the chorus have sung their parts each year for the past 10 years and sing the choruses from memory, Platt said.

Aden Lewis, director of the county school piano program, will be pianist.

Last Minute Entries Swell Plans For Tonight's Halloween Parade

Tonight's parade will assemble on Fifth Street at Virginia Avenue at 7 o'clock and the 18-division parade will begin moving at 8, Conlon reminded those who plan to see the colorful show.

A last minute addition to the parade's Seventh Division will be the color unit of the Military Order of Purple Heart, which will follow the Accident band.

Many additions to the Eighth Division were announced last night by Conlon. All of these units will come from Frostburg, the marshal said. Included are St. John's Church Boy Scout Troop, the Pioneer Club, the Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, drum and bugle corps, and a float from the M. Berkowitz Company, followed by 80 women in pajamas.

A float sponsored by the Bedford Road Fire Department and Auxiliary is an addition to the parade's Tenth Division. A bicycle built for two has been added to the 13th Division. Frederick C. (Buck) Dreyer's float will help swell the 14th Division while the El Fidel Club float will be in the 16th Division.

The parade route will be over Fifth Street to Virginia Avenue to Maryland Avenue to Williams Street to Baltimore Street to Centre Street to Mechanic Street to Baltimore Street to Liberty Street to Harrison Street, disbanding at the State Armory. The only change from this route will be that the floats will continue on Mechanic Street and will not return to Baltimore Street with the rest of the parade.

Clergymen who will be on the reviewing stand at City Hall are Rev. M. A. Keesecker, Kingsley Methodist Church; Rev. Glantz Lewis, SS. Peter and Paul Monastery, and Rabbi Jossef Kratzenstein, Beth Jacob Congregation.

Recital Planned At Lions Meeting

Two local musicians, Wilton H. Syckes, violinist, and Peter Schumacher, pianist, will present a recital at the luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club tomorrow at noon at Central YMCA.

The club will hold its November directors' meeting Friday evening at the "Y." All officers and committee chairmen are requested to attend.

Inspector For Street Work Is Appointed

Permission Granted For Banner Displays

At a brief session last night, the Mayor and Council approved appointment of Charles E. Young as inspector for the resurfacing of five city streets.

The work is being done under contract awarded earlier this month to the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Young's salary will be $10 per day, according to the order introduced by Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder.

The Democratic campaign committee was granted permission to display an election banner at Virginia Avenue.

Permission also was granted for displaying banners at the intersections of Virginia Avenue and Third Street, and at Oldtown Road and Pennsylvania Avenue, advertising the annual fair to be held by St. Mary's Catholic Church on November 8 and 9.

Approval was granted under jurisdiction of the Police Department.

Payroll for the second period in October was approved.

A Columbus, O., firm, Detergents, Inc., was ordered refunded $44.32 in a corporation account which was abated by the State Tax Commission last week, according to Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

Water consumption last week totaled 84,700,000 gallons as compared to 80,753,000 during the same period last year. Water level in Lake Gordon and Lake Koon is two inches above the crest of the spillways.

Officials To Attend Waterworks Sessions

Two local officials are planning to attend the second annual convention of the Chesapeake Section, American Waterworks Association, in Wilmington, Del., Wednesday through Friday.

They are Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Births Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dixon, 21 Front Street, this city, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yost, 517 Central Avenue, a daughter, yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Happe announce the birth of a daughter at University Hospital, Columbus, Ohio. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Happe, 948 Bedford Street.

Kopp Says Vote For Ober Law Is Blow Against Reds

In a crystal clear definition of his attitude toward communism, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, yesterday said he will declare his loyalty to his country on November 7 by voting to retain the Ober Law.

The statement was made in a letter to all employes of the Board of Education of Allegany County. The letter congratulated the County Teachers Association for its decisive action Saturday in favor of the continuation of the Anti-Subversive Law.

The Board of Education, Dr. Kopp added, has approved the issuance of a statement regarding its position on the Ober Law. The statement said:

"In my administrative service of 22 years in Allegany County, I have never come to you with any suggestion, or even hint, in the matter of how, or how not you might cast your vote. Voting in a free country is a personal and individual matter and each individual should vote as his judgment and conscience dictate, fearlessly, with intellectual honesty, and without bias or prejudice.

"The employes of the Public School System are intelligent citizens and, unquestionably, are able to make intelligent decisions in important matters. There are, however, certain issues that come before us from time to time, decision on which requires more careful thinking and discriminating judgment than on others, and it is because of that fact that I come to you with this letter.

Face Vital Issue

"On November 7, the voters of Maryland will be faced with an important issue, in which decision will be made on the Anti-Subversive Law, passed at the General Assembly of Maryland in 1949, known generally as the Ober Law. You have been urged in the official publication of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, "The Maryland Teacher," to vote to defeat the Anti-Subversive Act. Before you follow the "urging" as presented in "The Maryland Teacher," I am requesting that you give most serious thought to the issue.

"I make no secret of it that I am violently opposed to Communism, whether of the Russian or American brand, or any other variety that I have ever heard about. The fact is, as I see it, there is only one brand of Communism, and that brand operates, as we have seen it do, on lies, deception, fraud and sabotage. Communism, as we learn about it, aims to destroy all types of government, other than the Communistic form, with a special attack upon our own democratic government, and our own American way of life.

"The issue of free nations against slave nations, as typified by the Communistic form of government, is not only a local issue in our country, but, as is well known by all, is world-wide.

"One need not elaborate upon Communism to convince all freedom-loving people of its diabolical viciousness; all are too familiar with what has taken place throughout the world, particularly during the last decade or two.

"The position which "The Maryland Teacher" seems to take is not, however, that Communism is not vicious and undesirable, but that the Anti-Subversive Act tends to make Maryland an F.B.I., and that the enforcement of the Ober Law makes for "autocracy" similar to that practiced in authoritarian forms of government; also, that the definitions of subversion are vague.

Will Support Law

"Much has been said about such laws as the Ober Law in this, and in other states; about the taking away of human freedom on account of the provisions of such anti-subversive acts.

"I feel no curb on my freedom as

Hunter Is Held For Grand Jury In Shooting

Admits Wounding Warden Thoerig

Claude Selby, 23, Friendsville, who pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon to a charge of shooting District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, 37, Mt. Savage, was bound over to the Garrett County grand jury without bail by Magistrate H. A. Loraditch.

Meanwhile, Thoerig, who was wounded in the shoulder Saturday evening while patroling a wooded section of Garrett county near Kendall, was reported last night in "good" condition at Allegany Hospital.

Magistrate Loraditch said Selby was arraigned on a charge of shooting Thoerig with intent to kill him. Selby pleaded guilty to the shooting, Loraditch explained, but emphasized that he did not intend to kill the warden.

Next regular session of the grand jury in Garrett county will not be until March 12.

The shooting occurred while Thoerig and his deputy, Doyle McCullough, Friendsville, were investigating gunfire near Kendall.

Selby's companion Saturday evening, Ernest "Pete" Frazee, 18, was released Sunday.

Saturday evening's shooting occurred while Thoerig and McCullough were investigating reports of illegal deer hunting in Garrett county. The Maryland deer season will not open until Monday, December 4.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke has reported that both Selby and Frazee have been convicted "at least three times" during the past year on game and fish violations.

Selby was taken into custody in the Frazee Hotel, Friendsville, by State Trooper First Class Charles H. DeWitt within two hours after the shooting. Trooper First Class Jack Browning nabbed Frazee as he attempted to leave the hotel by a side door.

Veterans Service Committee To Meet

A general meeting of the State Veteran Service Committee for Allegany county will be held at the office of the State Employment Service, 301 South Mechanic Street, Wednesday, November 8, at 8 p. m.

A review of the work accomplished and a tentative program for future operation of the committee will be discussed.

Matters which greatly affect the status of unemployed veterans and other citizens of the county will be discussed, according to Edward J. Wegman, secretary.

Leaving For Last Run

B. and O. Engineer Fred B. Shipley, 65, is shown above kissing his wife just before leaving yesterday on his last run as engineer of the "Passenger's Helper" which runs from Cumberland to Sandpatch, Pa., daily. Shipley has worked for the B. and O. for 39 years, beginning as a fireman. He was promoted to freight engineer in 1918 and became a passenger engineer in 1943. His plans? He's going to Orlando, Fla., to take it easy, and he'll have Mrs. Shipley for company.

City Will Ask Sewer Cleaning Equipment Bids

Mrs. Roeder Terms Need "Pressing"

Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder was authorized by the Mayor and Council last night to seek bids on motorized sewer cleaning equipment.

Mrs. Roeder said such equipment is "the most pressing need" of the Street Department at the present time.

Old equipment of the windlass type, which must be operated by hand, is being used currently by the Street Department. Five men are required to work it.

The proposed new motorized equipment, of the power bucket machine type, would require only three men to operate it and would do the work faster and at considerably less expense, Mrs. Roeder pointed out.

Mrs. Roeder said sufficient funds are set aside in the Street Department budget for the motorized equipment. The windlass machine will be kept for future supplemental use as needed.

Under present conditions, it would cost about $50 a day and would take several months to clean the Mill Race sewer alone, Mrs. Roeder said.

Two other possibilities were considered before it was decided to ask for bids on motorized equipment.

They included motorizing the present windlass machine, or hiring an outside firm to come in and clean the sewers.

However, comparative studies on expense and working time showed that obtaining new equipment was the best solution, Mrs. Roeder said.

Specimens of power bucket machine equipment were on display at the Public Works Congress exhibition which Mrs. Roeder attended in New York 10 days ago.

Mrs. Roeder said majority of the sewers in Cumberland need cleaning, and she estimated it would take five men about two years to do the work with present equipment.

The interceptor sewer located behind the Western Maryland station has never been cleaned and is filling with silt. The branch from the Narrows down Mechanic Street has a sluggish flow which is causing water to back up in basements along that street.

The Mill Race sewer was cleaned about nine years ago but it is about half filled with mud and silt, Mrs. Roeder said.

During an inspection at that time, Mrs. Roeder said, she noticed the large amount of cinders cleaned out of the sewer.

She urged care by the public in using cinders from barrels placed at icy spots during the winter time to cover streets, since the cinders clog catch basins and sewers when they are washed away.

Clergyman's Car Damaged By Fire

A visiting clergyman's automobile attracted considerable attention along Baltimore street shortly before 3 p. m. yesterday when its wiring short circuited.

The automobile, the property of Rev. William Wilson, Johnstown, Pa., who currently is preaching at Little Orleans, caught fire while parked in front of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Baltimore and Centre Streets.

Police Officer J. W. Snyder, stationed at Baltimore and Centre Streets, observed the fire and ran to Baltimore and Liberty Streets, where he pulled the fire alarm box. However, before firemen from nearby Central Station could reach their destination Lawrence L. Grimm, a Cumberland Transit Company bus driver, stopped his bus and extinguished the flames with an extinguisher that he carried on the bus.

George Yonker of Little Orleans, had driven the preacher's car to Cumberland where he had just had the wiring checked.

A second automobile fire a few minutes later attracted firemen from East Side to 63 Henderson Boulevard. There they used a hand extinguisher to drown flames in the automobile of William Bane, LaVale. A short circuit in battery wiring was blamed. Damage to both automobiles in the fires yesterday afternoon was slight.

East Side firemen also were dispatched to Oakland Street, just off Yale Street, at 4:36 p. m. and were busied there 19 minutes with a grass fire which burned over an acre. No damage was reported.

Catherman's Students Complete Straw Vote

Catherman's Business school completed its "straw vote" yesterday with students voting their choice for House of Delegates candidates.

An election on the balance of the state and local candidates was held at the school last week.

Defeated were Lester B. Reed, Republican 74; Thomas G. Barton, 73, Charles J. Burke, 59; Alexander Nicol, 55; W. Ewald Ruehl, 49; and Shephen L. Cessnick, 40, Democrats.

McKeldin Promises $1,995,000 Program At Frostburg College

GOP Candidate Pledges Adequate Facilities For Miners Hospital

Support for a $1,995,000 expansion program for Frostburg State Teachers College and adequate funds for the expansion of Miners Hospital were promised here yesterday by Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican gubernatorial candidate.

Details of the program were revealed during a whirlwind tour of this county which began yesterday morning and ended at a huge rally at the Firemen's Armory in Barton last night.

McKeldin and Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican candidate for re-election to Congress from Maryland's Sixth district, yesterday conferred with Miss Lillian C. Compton and the faculty of the college.

McKeldin promised, on the basis of needs of the educational institution, to provide a $292,000 woman's dormitory for a total building program costing $1,995,000.

Has Been Neglected

Frostburg State Teachers College, he said, has been doing a magnificent job with facilities which have been provided, but it has been neglected too long.

He termed the college library, where the conference was held, completely inadequate for such an institution.

The complete program for the college, as endorsed by the GOP candidate, includes $40,000 for equipment for a new science building, $400,000 for a library and administration building, $412,000 for a gymnasium and union building, $337,000 for an auditorium and music department, a $222,000 dining hall, a $292,000 men's dormitory and the women's dormitory.

During his visit here, McKeldin called attention to Miners Hospital.

Ignored Vital Need

"You know what happened to this promise, just like all the rest of Mr. Lane's promises. At one session of the Legislature after another in the past four years, Mr. Lane absolutely refused to provide the necessary funds for the Miners Hospital addition. He completely ignored the fact that it was and is a vital need.

"What Mr. Lane has failed to do I can and will do promptly upon election, so the facilities of Miners Hospital will be adequate and fully satisfactory to the community."

McKeldin said the Governor had promised to provide additional class room and dormitory space for Frostburg State Teachers College.

"Today the college has over 500 students living and working in exactly the same space which served the needs of 150 students five years ago," he continued. "Not one additional class room, not one inch of dormitory space has been added by Mr. Lane, despite his promise of four years ago.

"Under my administration, these needs will be met promptly. I will not tolerate further delay and neglect of this necessary arm of our state teachers college system."

Recalling widespread unemployment last year in Western Maryland, McKeldin said Governor Lane after "five months of inaction" proposed an appropriation to provide temporary relief.

"But I know the people here, as elsewhere do not want relief or charity," declared McKeldin. "They want a fair opportunity to earn their own living."

Beall Says GOP Offers Return To Fiscal Sanity

Cites Huge Mortgage On County's Future

Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican candidate for Congress, charged yesterday the federal government has placed a mortgage of $169,420,000 on the future of Allegany county and said the election of a Republican Congress is the only way to guarantee a return to fiscal sanity.

In a speech at a GOP rally in the Firemen's Armory in Barton last night, Rep. Beall charged that the national debt is now $257,000,000,000, which amounts to about $1,720 for every man, woman and child in the country. Allegany county's share of the debt on a population basis, according to Rep. Beall, is $169,420,000.

"The Truman Administration is plunging the county more deeply into debt every day," the Republican candidate added. "By persisting in its wild spending and waste even in war time, the administration is destroying all hope of economic security. Already the people are caught helplessly between soaring prices and soaring taxes. But an even more tragic day of reckoning will come when the national debt must be paid off. Then the people will be reduced to paupers."

Rep. Beall said that before the recent tax increase, the average American was paying 25 per cent of his earnings to the tax collector. Now the percentage is much higher. He continued:

"Despite these crippling taxes, the government probably will have an annual deficit of around $10,000,000,000 when the rearmament program is fully underway. Yet President Truman has not withdrawn a single one of his mammoth spending programs that are really aimed at socializing America. He still wants Congress to enact socialized medicine, the Brannon Plan and a score of other measures that could double the tax load.

"The Republican 80th Congress, Rep. Beall declared, balanced the budget, lowered taxes, and reduced the national debt by $7,000,000,000. That Congress also kept our armed forces mightier than ever before in peacetime. The Republicans did the job once, and they can do it again."

Lonaconing VFW Has Loyalty Plan

Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Lonaconing, has arranged for a community rally for the signing of loyalty pledges, and will actively support the Ober Bill amendment on the ballots November 7, according to Post Commander Charles Cave.

Arrangements have been made for all residents of Lonaconing to sign loyalty pledges Friday and Saturday. "Lefty" Grove's storeroom on Main Street, next to the Republican Club, has been set aside as headquarters.

The place will be open Friday from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 p. m. until 4 p. m. and on Saturday from 10 a. m. to noon and 1 to 3 p. m.

On Wednesday, November 8, from 7 p. m. until 11 p. m. all post members and others interested can sign at the post home.

Commander Cave said post members will hand out sample ballots on election day in support of the Ober law and also will have several cars to haul voters to the polls.

Michigan Sewer Problem Aired

The new Michigan Avenue sewer will be a project for the coming winter season in the work schedule of the Street Department, Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said last night.

Work cannot get underway before cold weather because seasonal projects for the autumn period are now being done, she said.

Mrs. Roeder's comments came in reply to R. S. Pomeroy, who appeared before the Mayor and Council regarding a sewer problem.

Pomeroy said he is building a new home at the corner of Michigan Avenue and Massachusetts Avenue. He asked whether the new sewer could be constructed earlier, explaining that the old sewer on which he has already paid frontage does not provide adequate cellar drainage.

The city is not required to guarantee cellar drainage, according to the city code, Mrs. Roeder said.

She recalled that Pomeroy was informed at the time he paid for frontage and his tappage fee that he would have to raise the house in order to have cellar drainage, but that Pomeroy decided against that for reasons of appearance.

City Attorney W. Earle Cobey commented that Pomeroy could wait until winter and tap on to the new line, but Pomeroy said he had planned to occupy the new home by December.

Heavy Fines Possible For False Alarms

Halloween pranksters who think it might be fun to pull fire alarm boxes may find themselves in court, Assistant Fire Chief W. L. Lindner has warned.

Several false alarms, attributed to pranksters, have forced Cumberland firemen to make dangerous and unnecessary trips, Lindner added. Those caught sending false alarms will be subject to heavy fines.

Confer On College Expansion Plan

Mt. Savage Man Injured In Mishap

A 43-year-old Mt. Savage man was slightly injured yesterday when he was hit by a truck while he was walking along a roadway near Castle Hill, Mt. Savage.

Attaches at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, identified him as Lewis Martin, an employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, and said that he would be X-rayed today for possible fractures of his left foot.

Keyser Youth Shot In Legs While Hunting

Glen Dawson Hurt Near Reeses Mills

An 18-year-old high school senior, Glen Dawson, of RFD No. 2, Keyser, W. Va., is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, suffering from a bullet wound in both legs.

Dawson was shot in the upper part of the left leg, the bullet passing through and lodging in the upper portions of the right leg.

According to State Conservation Officer Claude Rice of Keyser, who talked with Dawson at the hospital, the young man claims he was accidently shot by a companion, Ronald Patterson, also about 18, of RFD No. 1, Keyser, Sunday afternoon in the Reeses Mills area.

Dawson told the officer, upon questioning, that he and his companion had gone into the woods earlier Sunday to hunt foxes. Dawson said he shot at a groundhog, but had trouble with the .22 calibre rifle he was carrying and traded with Patterson who was carrying a .32 calibre rifle.

Early Sunday afternoon, the youth said, he was accidentally shot with the .22 calibre rifle.

Officer Rice said he was especially interested in the case for a number of reasons.

He explained that he had returned Sunday from the Reeses Mills area after spending the night searching for a lost hunter who turned up safe, and did not hear about the shooting until yesterday afternoon.

After checking with state and local police, he learned that the shooting had not been reported to either. Then he went to the hospital and found that Dawson had been admitted there.

Rice said the shooting occurred in the same general area where Stanley Urice was fatally shot with a .25 calibre special about three weeks ago by an unknown party.

He also explained that he was disturbed about the rumor that another man had been shot there, especially after he and others had just been over the area searching for the lost hunter.

Rice said the Dawson shooting did not occur until Sunday afternoon, but when he first learned about it, he did not know when it had happened.

Lucile Cummings To Sing In 1950 Messiah Concert

Miss Lucile Cummings, well known contralto, will be one of four soloists in the Cumberland Choral Society's presentation of "The Messiah" at Fort Hill High School auditorium December 14 at 8:30 p. m.

Miss Cummings, one of the popular singing stars on The Telephone Hour, presented a concert here last May under the auspices of the Choral Society.

Miss Betty Wilson, a former resident of Frostburg, who is studying music and singing professionally in New York, will sing soprano leads in Handel's immortal masterpiece.

Jack Platt, director, said the tenor and bass soloists will be selected within a week.

"The Messiah" was first presented by the Choral Society here in 1939 and has been presented each year, with performances by various church choirs during the war years when the society was inactive.

The Choral Society's 75 members will be augmented by about 25 area singers to bring the chorus to 100, which Platt said is needed for an adequate performance.

The concert, which will last for an hour and 45 minutes, is free and open to the public.

Many of the members of the chorus have sung their parts each year for the past 10 years and sing the choruses from memory, Platt said.

Aden Lewis, director of the county school piano program, will be pianist.

Last Minute Entries Swell Plans For Tonight's Halloween Parade

Last minute entries will make tonight's annual Halloween parade in Cumberland even more pretentious than originally anticipated, Grand Marshal Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., said last night.

Tonight's parade will assemble on Fifth Street at Virginia Avenue at 7 o'clock and the 18-division parade will begin moving at 8, Conlon reminded those who plan to see the colorful show.

A last minute addition to the parade's Seventh Division will be the color unit of the Military Order of Purple Heart, which will follow the Accident band.

Many additions to the Eighth Division were announced last night by Conlon. All of these units will come from Frostburg, the marshal said. Included are St. John's Church Boy Scout Troop, the Pioneer Club, the Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, drum and bugle corps, and a float from the M. Berkowitz Company, followed by 80 women in pajamas.

A float sponsored by the Bedford Road Fire Department and Auxiliary is an addition to the parade's Tenth Division. A bicycle built for two has been added to the 13th Division. Frederick C. (Buck) Dreyer's float will help swell the 14th Division while the El Fidel Club float will be in the 16th Division.

The parade route will be over Fifth Street to Virginia Avenue to Maryland Avenue to Williams Street to Baltimore Street to Centre Street to Mechanic Street to Baltimore Street to Liberty Street to Harrison Street, disbanding at the State Armory. The only change from this route will be that the floats will continue on Mechanic Street and will not return to Baltimore Street with the rest of the parade.

Clergymen who will be on the reviewing stand at City Hall are Rev. M. A. Keesecker, Kingsley Methodist Church; Rev. Glantz Lewis, SS. Peter and Paul Monastery, and Rabbi Jossef Kratzenstein, Beth Jacob Congregation.

Recital Planned At Lions Meeting

Two local musicians, Wilton H. Sykes, violinist, and Peter Schumacher, pianist, will present a recital at the luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club tomorrow at noon at Central YMCA.

The club will hold its November directors' meeting Friday evening at the "Y." All officers and committee chairmen are requested to attend.

Inspector For Street Work Is Appointed

Permission Granted For Banner Displays

At a brief session last night, the Mayor and Council approved appointment of Charles E. Young as inspector for the resurfacing of five city streets.

The work is being done under contract awarded earlier this month to the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Young's salary will be $10 per day, according to the order introduced by Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder.

The Democratic campaign committee was granted permission to display an election banner at Virginia Avenue.

Permission also was granted for displaying banners at the intersections of Virginia Avenue and Third Street, and at Oldtown Road and Pennsylvania Avenue, advertising the annual fair to be held by St. Mary's Catholic Church on November 8 and 9.

Approval was granted under jurisdiction of the Police Department.

Payroll for the second period in October was approved.

A Columbus, O., firm, Detergents, Inc., was ordered refunded $44.32 in a corporation account which was abated by the State Tax Commission last week, according to Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

Mrs. Roeder suggested placing signs at the city limits to notify out-of-town shoppers of the location of parking places in the downtown section.

Water consumption last week totaled 84,700,000 gallons as compared to 80,753,000 during the same period last year. Water level in Lake Gordon and Lake Koon is two inches above the crest of the spillways.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson served as acting city clerk in the absence of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, who is on a week's vacation.

Officials To Attend Waterworks Sessions

Two local officials are planning to attend the second annual convention of the Chesapeake Section, American Waterworks Association, in Wilmington, Del., Wednesday through Friday.

They are Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Kopp Says Vote For Ober Law Is Blow Against Reds

In a crystal clear definition of his attitude toward communism, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, yesterday said he will declare his loyalty to his country on November 7 by voting to retain the Ober Law.

The statement was made in a letter to all employes of the Board of Education of Allegany County. The letter congratulated the County Teachers Association for its decisive action Saturday in favor of the continuation of the Anti-Subversive Law.

The Board of Education, Dr. Kopp added, has approved the issuance of a statement regarding its position on the Ober Law. The statement said:

"In my administrative service of 22 years in Allegany County, I have never come to you with any suggestion, or even hint, in the matter of how, or how not you might cast your vote. Voting in a free country is a personal and individual matter and each individual should vote as his judgment and conscience dictate, fearlessly, with intellectual honesty, and without bias or prejudice.

"The employes of the Public School System are intelligent citizens and, unquestionably, are able to make intelligent decisions in important matters. There are, however, certain issues that come before us from time to time, decision on which requires more careful thinking and discriminating judgment than on others, and it is because of that fact that I come to you with this letter.

Face Vital Issue

"On November 7, the voters of Maryland will be faced with an important issue, in which decision will be made on the Anti-Subversive Law, passed at the General Assembly of Maryland in 1949, known generally as the Ober Law. You have been urged in the official publication of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, "The Maryland Teacher," to vote to defeat the Anti-Subversive Act. Before you follow the "urging" as presented in "The Maryland Teacher," I am requesting that you give most serious thought to the issue.

"I make no secret of it that I am violently opposed to Communism, whether of the Russian or American brand, or any other variety that I have ever heard about. The fact is, as I see it, there is only one brand of Communism, and that brand operates, as we have seen it do, on lies, deception, fraud and sabotage. Communism, as we learn about it, aims to destroy all types of government, other than the Communistic form, with a special attack upon our own democratic government, and our own American way of life.

"The issue of free nations against slave nations, as typified by the Communistic form of government, is not only a local issue in our country, but, as is well known by all, is world-wide.

"One need not elaborate upon Communism to convince all freedom-loving people of its diabolical viciousness; all are too familiar with what has taken place throughout the world, particularly during the last decade or two.

"The position which "The Maryland Teacher" seems to take is not, however, that Communism is not vicious and undesirable, but that the Anti-Subversive Act tends to make Maryland an F.B.I., and that the enforcement of the Ober Law makes for "autocracy" similar to that practiced in authoritarian forms of government; also, that the definitions of subversion are vague.

Will Support Law

"Much has been said about such laws as the Ober Law in this, and in other states; about the taking away of human freedom on account of the provisions of such anti-subversive acts.

"I feel no curb on my freedom as

Admits Wounding Warden Thoerig

Claude Selby, 23, Friendsville, who pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon to a charge of shooting District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, 37, Mt. Savage, was bound over to the Garrett County grand jury without bail by Magistrate H. A. Loraditch.

Meanwhile, Thoerig, who was wounded in the shoulder Saturday evening while patroling a wooded section of Garrett county near Kendall, was reported last night in "good" condition at Allegany Hospital.

Magistrate Loraditch said Selby was arraigned on a charge of shooting Thoerig with intent to kill him. Selby pleaded guilty to the shooting, Loraditch explained, but emphasized that he did not intend to kill the warden.

Next regular session of the grand jury in Garrett county will not be until March 12.

The shooting occurred while Thoerig and his deputy, Doyle McCullough, Friendsville, were investigating gunfire near Kendall.

Selby's companion Saturday evening, Ernest "Pete" Frazee, 18, was released Sunday.

Saturday evening's shooting occurred while Thoerig and McCullough were investigating reports of illegal deer hunting in Garrett county. The Maryland deer season will not open until Monday, December 4.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke has reported that both Selby and Frazee have been convicted "at least three times" during the past year on game and fish violations.

Selby was taken into custody in the Frazee Hotel, Friendsville, by State Trooper First Class Charles H. DeWitt within two hours after the shooting. Trooper First Class Jack Browning nabbed Frazee as he attempted to leave the hotel by a side door.

Veterans Service Committee To Meet

A general meeting of the State Veteran Service Committee for Allegany county will be held at the office of the State Employment Service, 301 South Mechanic Street, Wednesday, November 8, at 8 p. m.

A review of the work accomplished and a tentative program for future operation of the committee will be discussed.

Matters which greatly affect the status of unemployed veterans and other citizens of the county will be discussed, according to Edward J. Wegman, secretary.

B. and O. Engineer Fred B. Shipley, 65, is shown above kissing his wife just before leaving yesterday on his last run as engineer of the "Passenger's Helper" which runs from Cumberland to Sandpatch, Pa., daily. Shipley has worked for the B. and O. for 39 years, beginning as a fireman. He was promoted to freight engineer in 1918 and became a passenger engineer in 1943. His plans? He's going to Orlando, Fla., to take it easy, and he'll have Mrs. Shipley for company.

City Will Ask Sewer Cleaning Equipment Bids

Mrs. Roeder Terms Need "Pressing"

Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder was authorized by the Mayor and Council last night to seek bids on motorized sewer cleaning equipment.

Mrs. Roeder said such equipment is "the most pressing need" of the Street Department at the present time.

Old equipment of the windlass type, which must be operated by hand, is being used currently by the Street Department. Five men are required to work it.

The proposed new motorized equipment, of the power bucket machine type, would require only three men to operate it and would do the work faster and at considerably less expense, Mrs. Roeder pointed out.

Mrs. Roeder said sufficient funds are set aside in the Street Department budget for the motorized equipment. The windlass machine will be kept for future supplemental use as needed.

Under present conditions, it would cost about $50 a day and would take several months to clean the Mill Race sewer alone, Mrs. Roeder said.

Two other possibilities were considered before it was decided to ask for bids on motorized equipment.

They included motorizing the present windlass machine, or hiring an outside firm to come in and clean the sewers.

However, comparative studies on expense and working time showed that obtaining new equipment was the best solution, Mrs. Roeder said.

Specimens of power bucket machine equipment were on display at the Public Works Congress exhibition which Mrs. Roeder attended in New York 10 days ago.

Mrs. Roeder said majority of the sewers in Cumberland need cleaning, and she estimated it would take five men about two years to do the work with present equipment.

The interceptor sewer located behind the Western Maryland station has never been cleaned and is filling with silt. The branch from the Narrows down Mechanic Street has a sluggish flow which is causing water to back up in basements along that street.

The Mill Race sewer was cleaned about nine years ago but it is about half filled with mud and silt, Mrs. Roeder said.

One section between Baltimore and Pershing Streets was cleaned recently to correct bad clogging at that point.

During an inspection at that time, Mrs. Roeder said, she noticed the large amount of cinders cleaned out of the sewer.

She urged care by the public in using cinders from barrels placed at icy spots during the winter time to cover streets, since the cinders clog catch basins and sewers when they are washed away.

Clergyman's Car Damaged By Fire

A visiting clergyman's automobile attracted considerable attention along Baltimore street shortly before 3 p. m. yesterday when its wiring short circuited.

The automobile, the property of Rev. William Wilson, Johnstown, Pa., who currently is preaching at Little Orleans, caught fire while parked in front of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at Baltimore and Centre Streets.

Police Officer J. W. Snyder, stationed at Baltimore and Centre Streets, observed the fire and ran to Baltimore and Liberty Streets, where he pulled the fire alarm box. However, before firemen from nearby Central Station could reach their destination Lawrence L. Grimm, a Cumberland Transit Company bus driver, stopped his bus and extinguished the flames with an extinguisher that he carried on the bus.

George Yonker of Little Orleans, had driven the preacher's car to Cumberland where he had just had the wiring checked.

A second automobile fire a few minutes later attracted firemen from East Side to 63 Henderson Boulevard. There they used a hand extinguisher to drown flames in the automobile of William Bane, LaVale. A short circuit in battery wiring was blamed. Damage to both automobiles in the fires yesterday afternoon was slight.

East Side firemen also were dispatched to Oakland Street, just off Yale Street, at 4:36 p. m. and were busied there 19 minutes with a grass fire which burned over an acre. No damage was reported.

Catherman's Students Complete Straw Vote

Catherman's Business school completed its "straw vote" yesterday with students voting their choice for House of Delegates candidates.

An election on the balance of the state and local candidates was held at the school last week.

Defeated were Lester B. Reed, Republican 74; Thomas G. Barton, 73, Charles J. Burke, 59; Alexander Nicol, 55; W. Ewald Ruehl, 49; and Shephen L. Cessnick, 40, Democrats.
